... of using leisure time

Due to the shortage of employment for teens in the summer of 1980, students had more leisure time and less money to spend for recreation. Despite these facts, Oshkosh offered several leisure time activities for students.

Teenagers had access to Lake Winnebago as well as County Park for summer fun. The annual Sawdust Daze and County Fair provided additional entertainment.

For the more culturally attuned, the Paine Art Center displayed the Faberge exhibit in the fall, until part of the exhibit was stolen in a one million dollar robbery.

Summer softball teams rose in number once again and in order to fill the need for playing sites, Sportsman's Park, north of County Park on Highway 45, was built.

Students also attended summer camps for basketball, music, drama and writing. Others went outdoors camping with family or youth groups.

LOWER RIGHT: Several North sunbathers enjoy a warm summer afternoon at County Park.

... of meeting high prices

As inflation rates rose and the economy made a slow recovery from the recession, students continued to seek employment as a means of adjusting to the higher cost of living.

In addition to the number of students who sought employment on their own, approximately 80 students were involved in the work experience and co-op programs. Through the programs, students were employed in areas such as sales and marketing, auto service, and office work. Places of employment included K-Mart, Oshkosh Truck, Valley Bank, and Shoreview Lanes.

Wisconsin also changed its child labor laws in October of 1980, allowing 14 and 15 year-olds to work in establishments that sell liquor, provided they didn't work more than eight hours per week while attending school.

Minimum wage was $3.10, although the new ruling required time-and-a-half overtime pay for over 10 hours of work per day.

Although Student Congress (SC) was successful in obtaining five days for Homecoming instead of the proposed three, the Homecoming Committee suffered defeat at the hands of the administration when principal Robert Kellerman canceled several Homecoming activities following a food fight.

The bonfire, a former tradition, was reinstated for the 1980 Homecoming after three years of being in absentia. The site for the bonfire was the girls' softball diamond which was under repair.

As usual, students rushed to complete the floats on time. Despite a slow start, juniors captured first place in the float competition.

The varsity football team's victory over Kaukauna 28-8, followed by a victory dance, capped off the week's events.

... of staging an operetta

With the Saturday night performance drawing a crowd of only 100-150 people short of capacity, the North choirs' 1980 production of Lionel Bart's Oliver was the best attended operetta in the history of North.

Choir director Dan Carpenter said the biggest challenge of this year's operetta was working with the younger boys who played Fagin's gang. Nineteen boys from fourth to eighth grade were cast in the show.

Behind the scenes, hard work went into the production, also. Assistant director Ruth Vorpahl helped with make-up and organization. Carpenter said, "I don't think people realize how much Miss Vorpahl does for the show."

Make-up, stage crews, and the orchestra also played important roles in the production.

Carpenter added that the kids seemed more enthusiastic for Oliver. "It was really a mass effort," he concluded.

. . . of fall sports

With declining enrollments and decreasing budgets, the challenge of athletics became tougher in 1980. The school board, along with the athletic director, considered dropping one freshman football team because of lack of participants, and began to look toward soccer, which costs less to implement.

But despite these moves, North went on to its finest fall ever as the tennis team won its first conference and sectional titles, and the football team recorded its best record in the history of the school.

The girls' swimming team defeated perennial conference champion Appleton West for the first time in history, and rolled through its dual meet season.

In cross country, senior Sue Hoffman led the girls throughout the season and competed at state for the second time in her career.

Uncertainty about world affairs, as well as uncertainty on the part of students about planning their own futures was present at the beginning of the 1980-81 school year.

The day of the presidential election also marked the one-year anniversary for the hostages in Iran.

In order to aid those students going on to college or technical schools, the guidance area obtained a Decwriter computer, which was connected to the Wisconsin Career Information Services (WSCIS) computer at UW-Oshkosh.

The Decwriter was programmed to give students information about school costs, job opportunities, financial aids, plus a brief synopsis of different jobs, enabling students to obtain more information in a short time.

Approximately 40 per cent of North seniors went on to college, and approximately 20 per cent went to technical school, according to the guidance department.

An increase in the number of computer related jobs prospected for the 1980's prompted many students to learn more about computers.

In order to combat the slump in auto sales due to competition from the more fuel efficient Japanese cars, Detroit auto makers added a longer line of small cars to the 1981 market.

Auto makers also faced financial difficulty in 1980. The U.S. government bailed out Chrysler Corporation, while American Motors Corporation turned to the French-based Renault Company for a financial boost.

American cars were most prevalent at North, according to a survey of the parking lots on a typical day. Chevys dominated by an overwhelming majority.

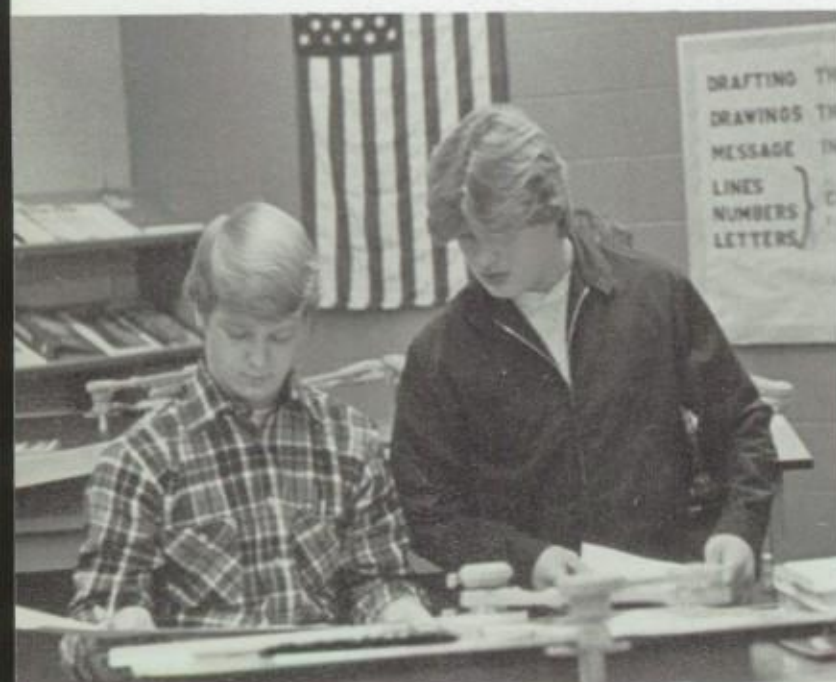

Although many students drove cars to school, others found alternate methods of transportation. Both motorcycles and bicycles proved to be popular. Other students followed the traditions of walking to school and taking the bus. The city of Oshkosh rerouted its buses to serve a larger area, yet kept the fare at 25 cents.

Senior Sue Hoffman, pacing the girls' cross country team throughout the year, took 54th in the state meet in Wausau.

Hoffman's accomplishments consisted of a second in conference, a second in sectionals and a second at the Spartan Invitational.

As a team, the girls took fifth at sectionals and eighth at conference.

Freshman Rhonda Biendarra and junior Anne Cameron placed 22nd and 25th respectively at sectionals. The duo placed 19th and 22nd at conference.

Barkelar tops girls' golfers

North's girls' golf team, paced by All-Conference senior Amy Barkelar and honorable mention junior Sue Sprung, finished the season with a 2-3 conference record.

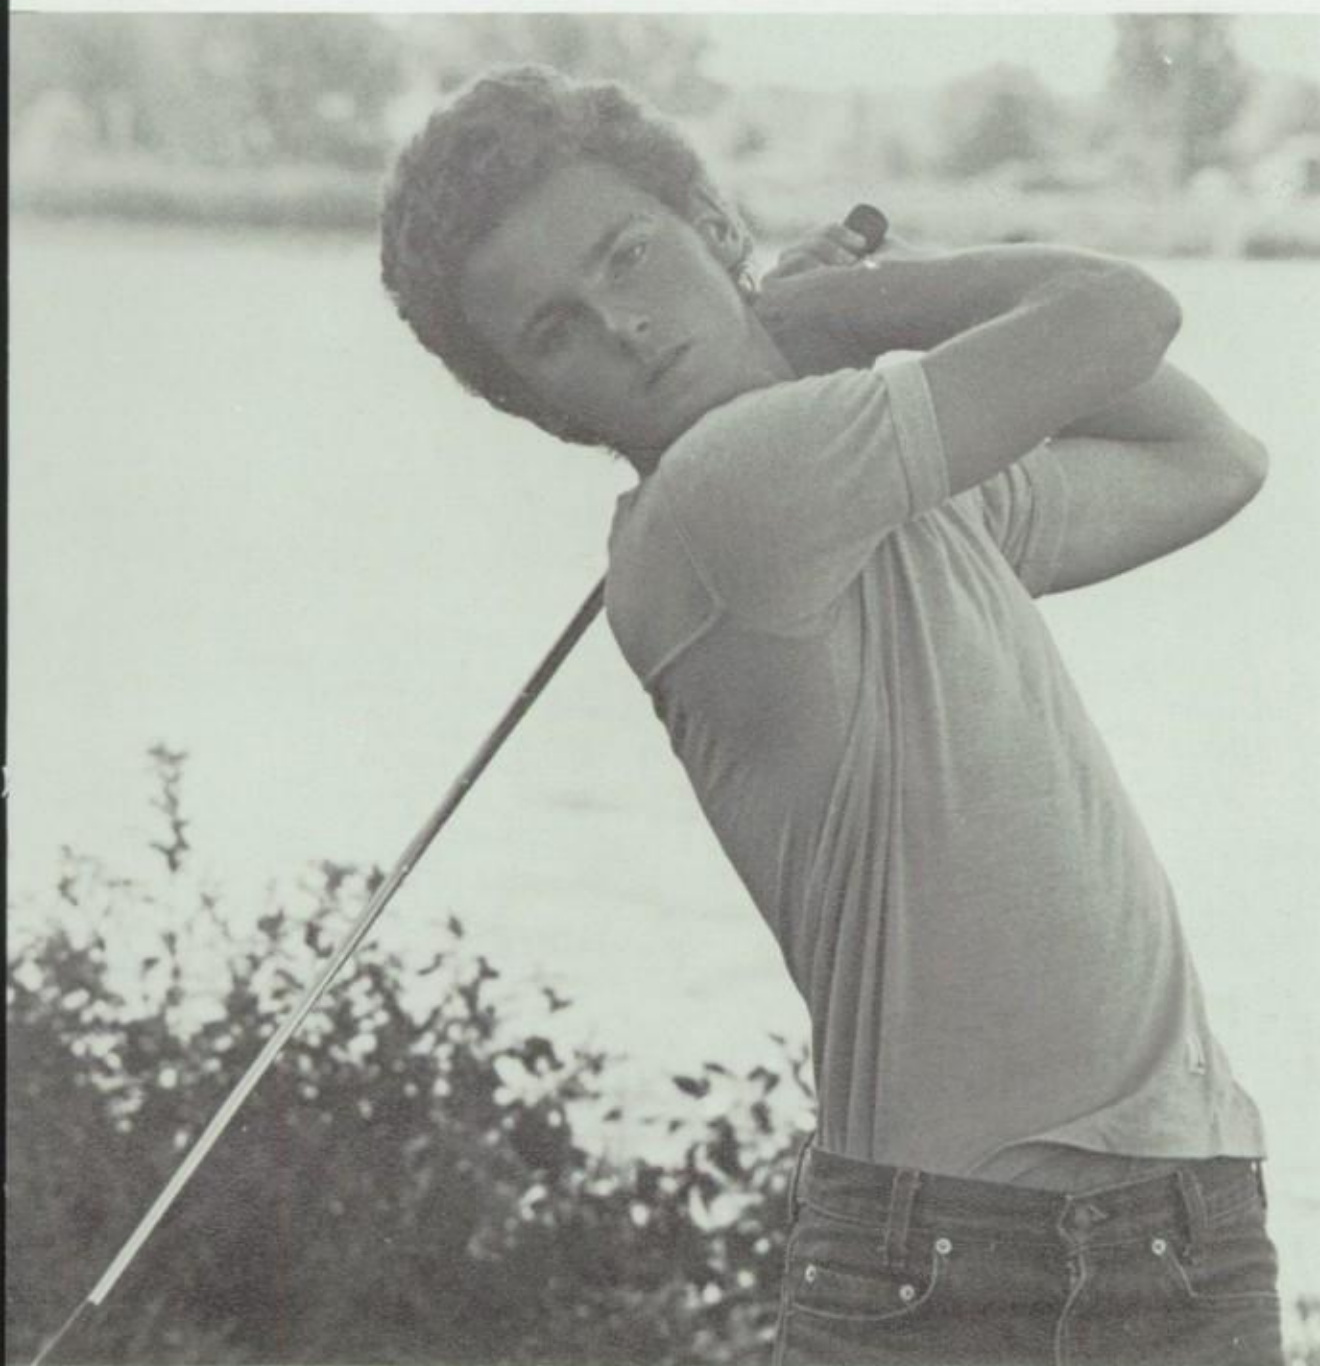

The Spartans, coached by Jim Bruins, placed 5th out of the six teams in conference and took 8th in sectionals.

Barkelar was the first girl at North ever to letter all four years in golf.

North records best record

North recorded its best varsity football record in history, 7-2 overall and 5-2 in conference, tying for second in the FVA.

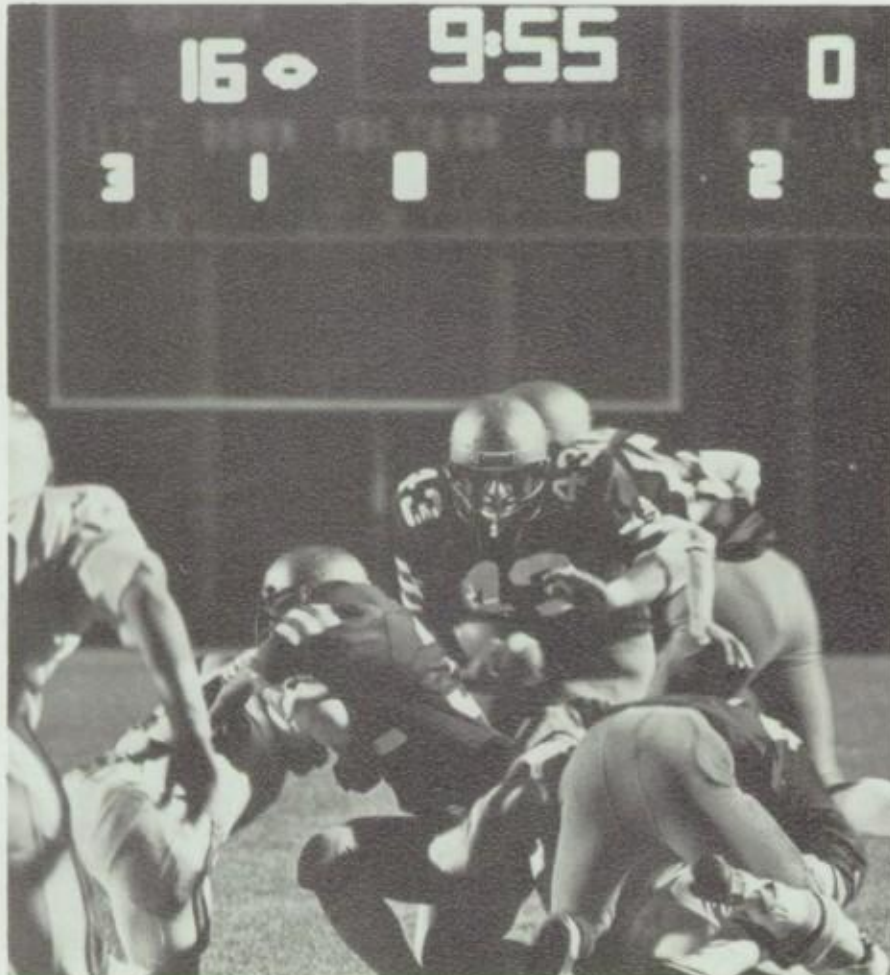

The team placed second in team defense and team offense in conference.

Senior tailback Gary Gauger set several single season school records: most yards (977), most rushing attempts (209), and most touchdowns (12). Gauger led the conference in rushing while senior fullback Dean Johnston scored the most points in the conference with 56.

Junior linebacker Greg Curtis joined Gauger, Johnston and senior Tom Schuessler on the first team FVA All-Conference squad.

Seniors Tim Angle, Ken Angle, and Ron Pistohl were second team choices, while seniors Curt Allison and Dave Bohn made honorable mention.

JV's compile 0-9 record

Oshkosh North's JV football team finished the season with a 0-9 record.

The Spartans, coached by Chuck Neuser, were led by running back sophomore Barry Laatsch. The leading passer was sophomore Mark Hecker.

Neuser commented, "I feel the players have learned the amount of intensity it is going to take to win on varsity, and I'm also pleased with their loyalty."

JV FOOTBALL, BOTTOM ROW: E. Granberg, B. Laatsch, G. Lincoln, J. Basiliere, T. Morrical, B. Dunn, R. Tiedemann, K. Manthei. ROW 2: B. Olson, J. McHugh, J. Tyrivier, D. Buelow, A. Dumke, T. Daun, M. Varsity finishes 4-13 overall

North's girls' varsity volleyball team finished 4-13 for the season, 2-12 in conference play. The girls placed last in the FVA.

At the fall sports banquet, senior Marie Kurzynske won the Most Valuable Player Award, and senior Connie Lambert was voted Most Improved. Both awards were decided by team members.

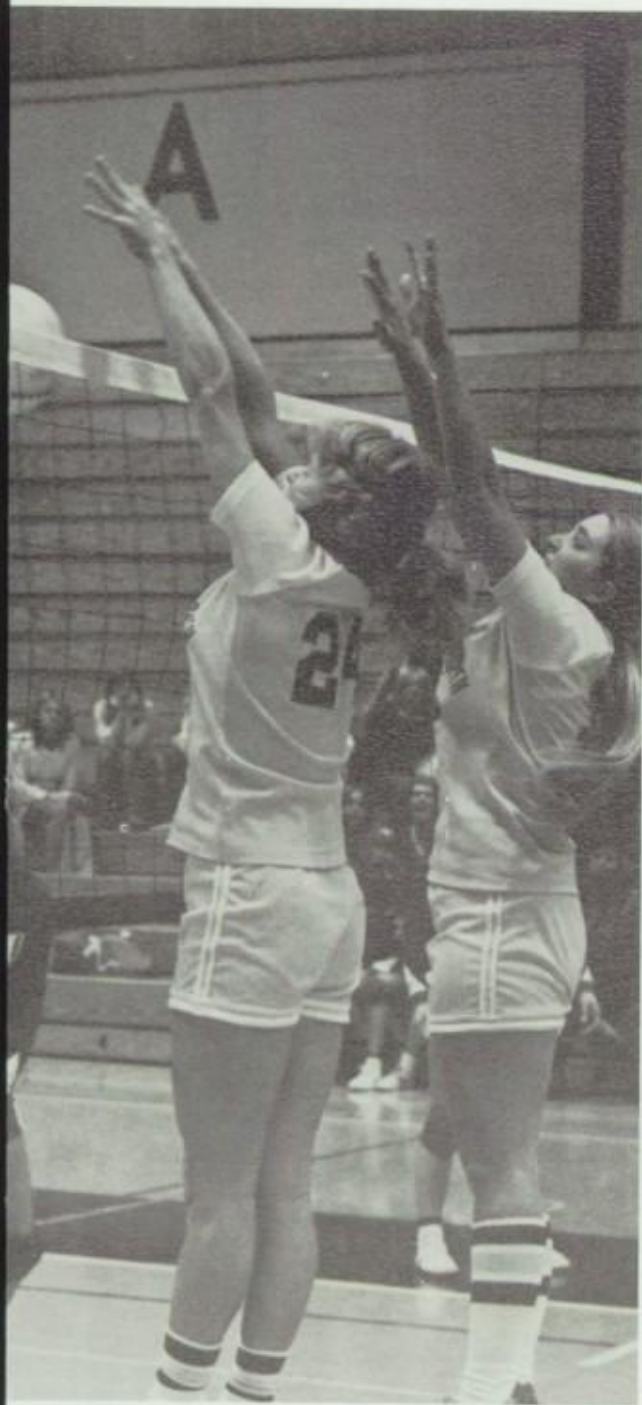

Coach Nancy Hunter said, "We really had a lot of talent, but we didn't play to our ability. We had the potential to be a good team."

The team consisted of seven seniors, two juniors and one sophomore.

The spikers defeated Sheboygan North, Oshkosh West, Menasha and Omro.

VARSDTY VOLLEYBALL, ROW 1: J. Gosz. ROW 2: C. Lambert, S. LaPoint, J. Herold, K. Place, coach N. Hunter, M. Kurzynske, D. Last, C. Buelow, C. Zort.

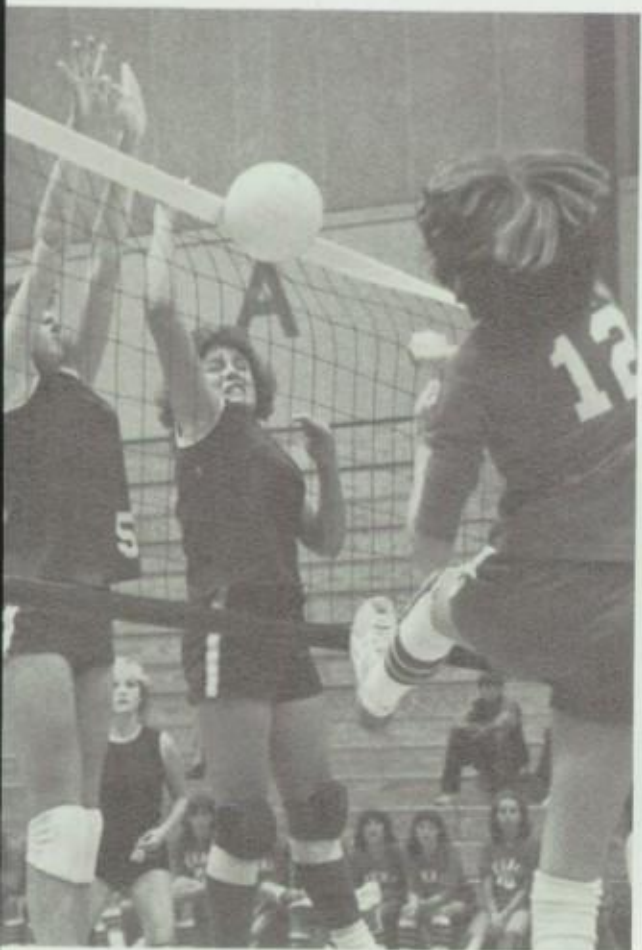

JV's compile .500 season

Led by first-year coach Kathy Finley, North's JV volleyball team completed an 8-8 season.

Finley said, "I've really learned a lot, having never coached volleyball before this season. Nancy Hunter (varsity coach) really helped me out. When we started out, we were undefeated with a 6-0 record. I hadn't expected much. Nonetheless, I really enjoyed the girls and the season."

Junior captain Donna Young said, "In the beginning, practices were serious and good; and we played well. We were expecting a first or second place. I guess we got overconfident."

Swimmers send five to state

North's girls' swim team sent five girls to state and compiled a conference dual meet record of 5-0 and a 9-1 overall record.

Coached by Candy Christenson, the girls placed 24th at state. Swimming in Madison were senior Paula Rolfes, junior Jane Fogtman, sophomore Holly Hess, and freshmen Ellie Jaeger and Kris Vaughn.

At state, the 400 free relay team consisting of Jaeger, Vaughn, Rolfes and Hess placed 8th, setting a North record in 3:51.8. Fogtman finished 14th in the 100 fly and 18th in the 100 breast, while Hess added a 15th in the 100 free.

The Spartans took second at the conference meet and tied for third at sectionals. For the first time in history, North beat Appleton West in a dual meet, 89-83.

The girls broke several North records during the season: Jaeger in the 200 and 500 free; Hess in the 200 IM, 50 free and 100 free; Fogtman in the 100 fly and 400 free, and senior Mary Kosanke in diving.

AD alters letters

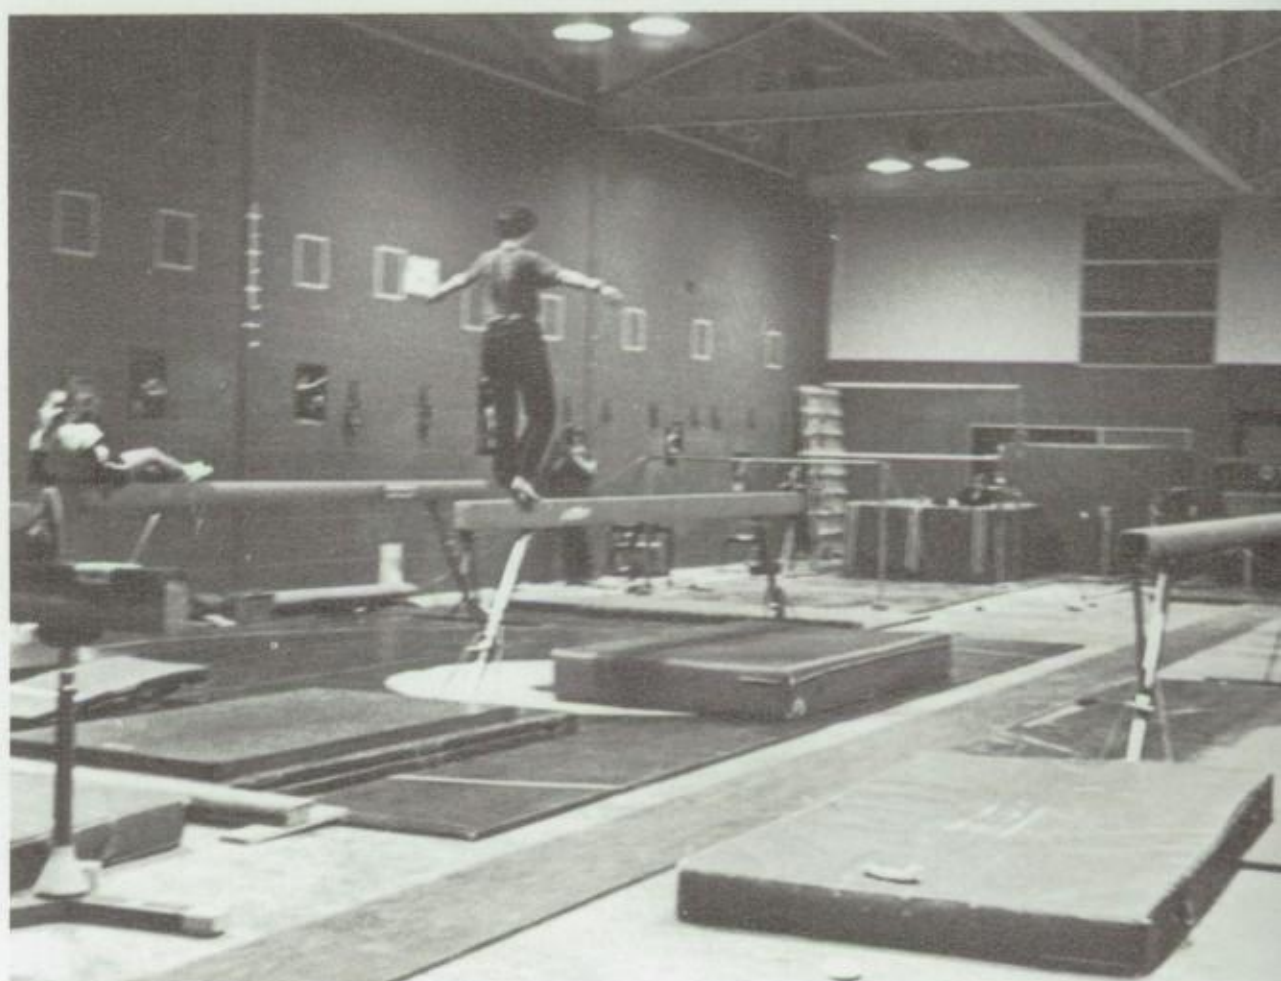

Athletic director Terry Wojahn brought about many changes and new ideas during 1980-81.

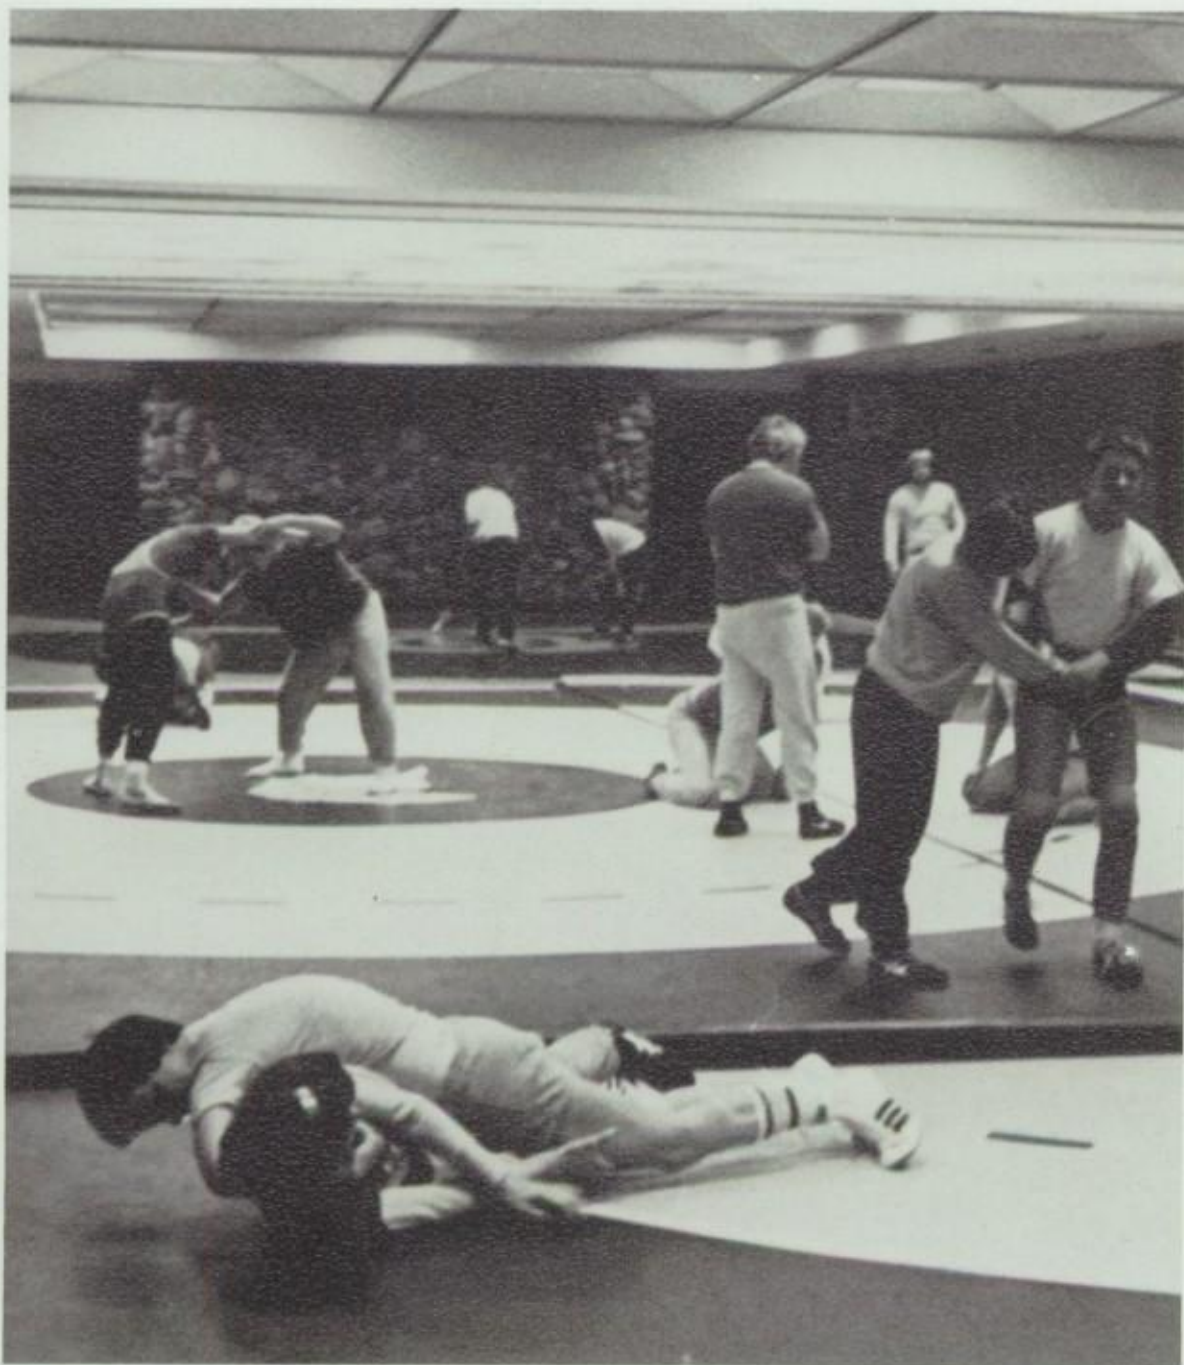

Wojahn changed the old award system to one which would recognize athletes in "a better fashion."

With the new system, freshmen received numerals, JV athletes received a Spartan insignia, first-year letterwinners received a letter, second-year letterwinners won a certificate, third-year letterwinners got a plaque, and four-year letterwinners received a pen set.

Wojahn also made several suggestions to the school board which were approved Nov. 12 on a straw vote.

One of the suggestions consisted of adding a freshman girls' volleyball team because of the many participants.

Board seeks different site

The school board asked for possible alternatives for Titan Stadium because of the cost. E.J. Schneider Field was favored by Wojahn as the best option.

The dropping of a freshman football team was requested by Wojahn because of lack of participation.

In the late fall, practice facilities for gymnastics and wrestling were moved to the upper gym and commons, respectively, by Wojahn.

Bucket team goes 10-10

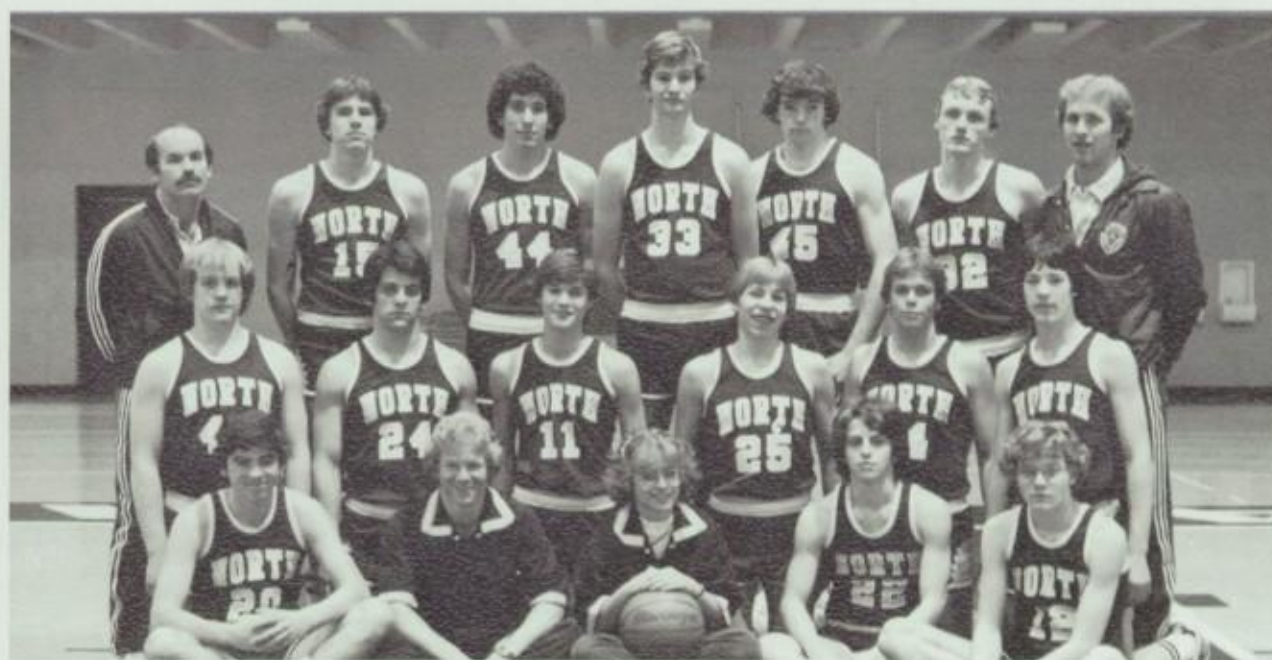

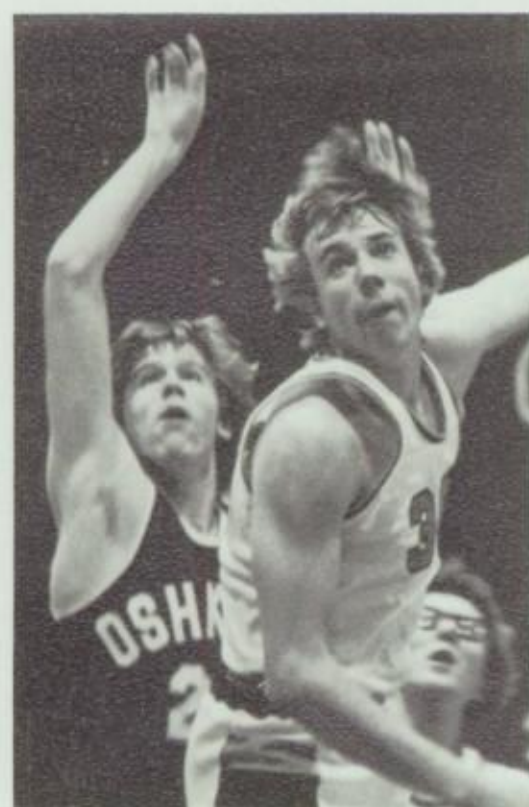

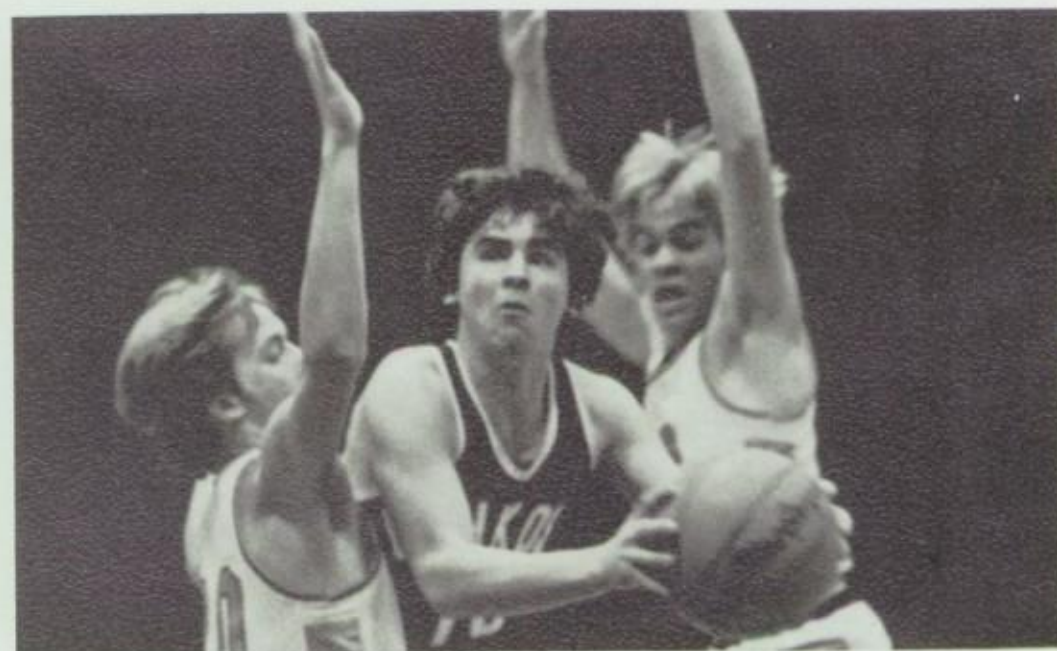

In Mark Christenson's first year as head coach, North's varsity basketball team recorded a .500 season in both conference and overall, a record for the school. The team tied for 4th in the FVA.

Junior Scott Stille led the team in scoring, while junior Bob Salm set a school record while leading the team and the conference in rebounding.

The team set a record with four wins in a row, and senior Curt Allison led the conference in free throw shooting with 86.6 per cent.

Fogtman goes to state

Led by freshman Kris Fogtman and senior Patty Laine, North's gymnastics team took second in conference and finished with a 6-1 dual meet record, the best ever for the team.

Fogtman went to state on the strength of her third on beam at sectionals, while Laine took 4th on the floor.

Fogtman placed fifth on the beam at state.

Laine led the team at conference with a 2nd on the floor and a 3rd in vault and all around.

Keith Samse coached the team.

Mayne leads boy swimmers

Senior Bret Mayne's 12th-place finish in diving at the state meet in Madison highlighted the year for North's boys' swim team.

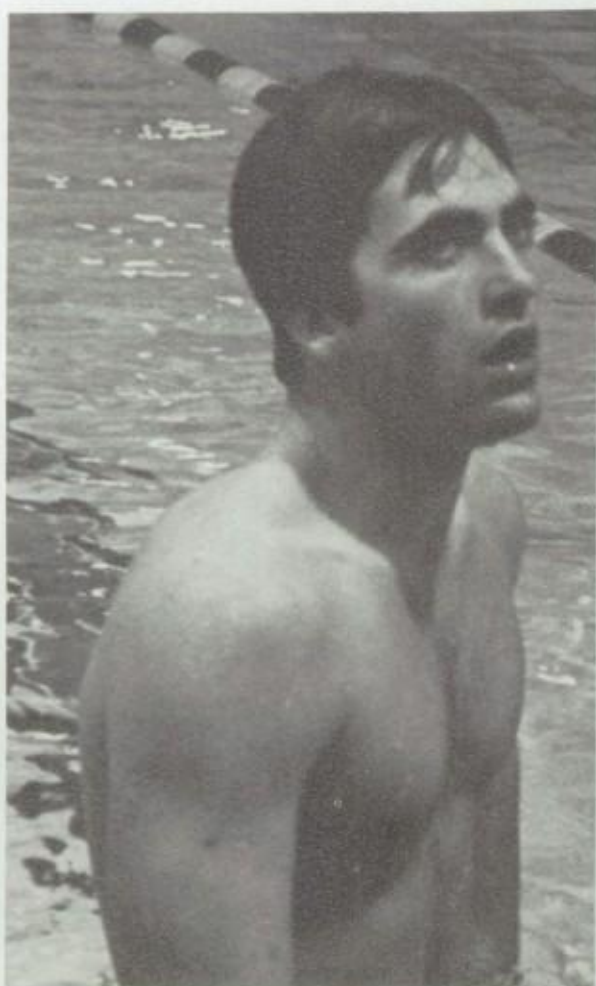

Mayne also broke his own conference diving mark with 440 points, while the 200-yard medley relay team of seniors Mark Skupas and Jeff Verner, and juniors Mike Burns and Jon Combs, set a school record of 1:46.4.

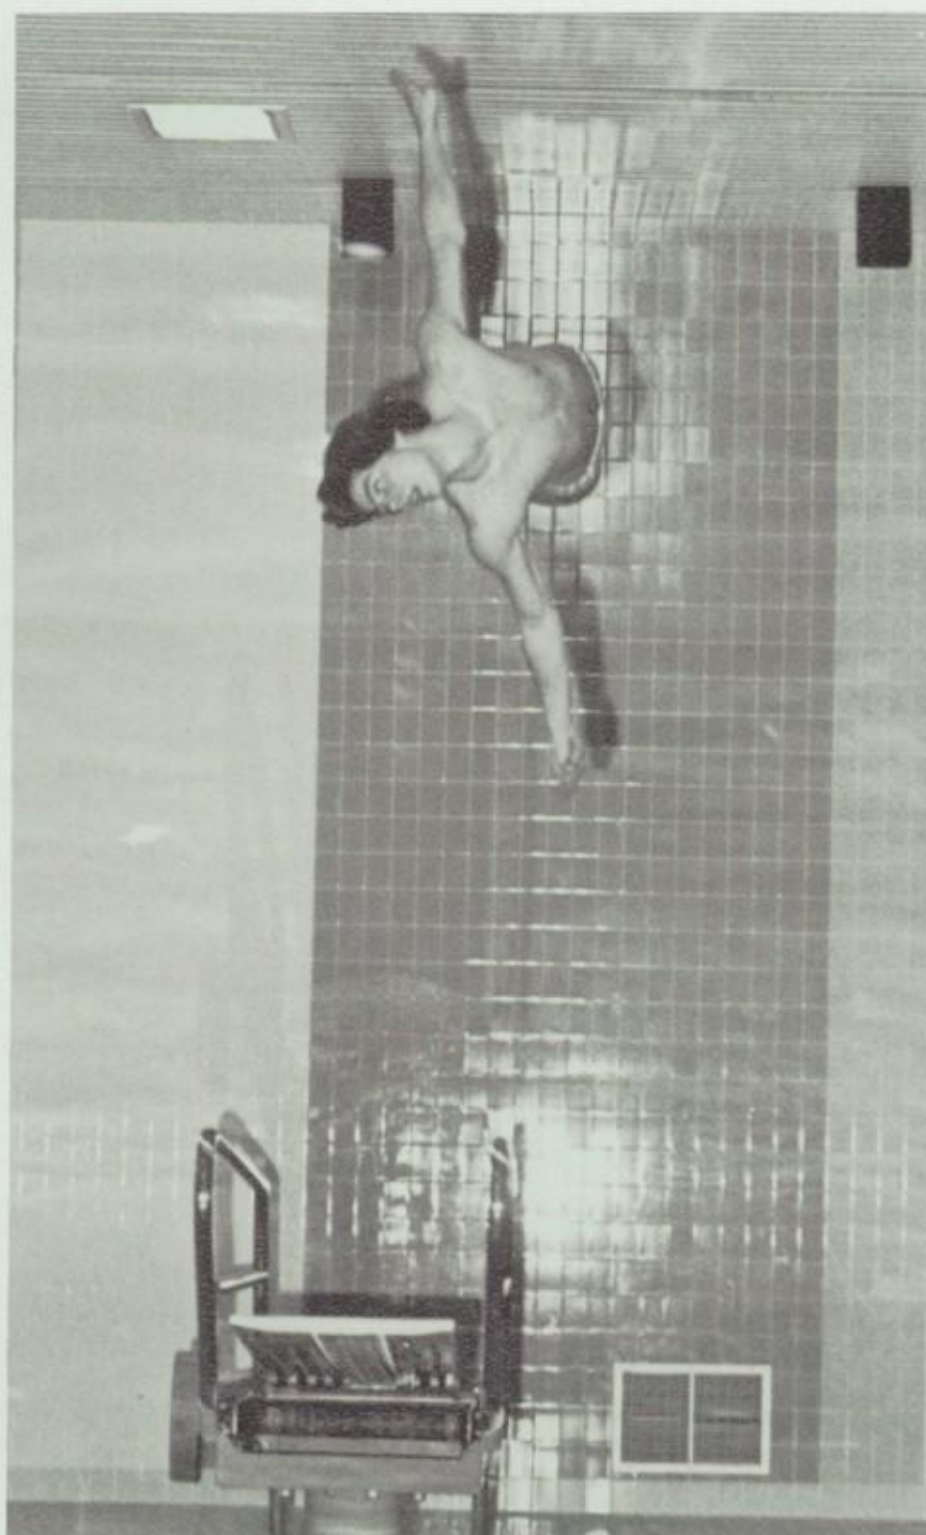

Combs set a school record in the 100 breast with a 1:05.5.

New media rules put into effect

Students using the upper media center this year were greeted with silence.

New media rules were introduced at the beginning of the year by principal Robert Kellerman. The lower media was considered the talking media while silence reigned in the upper media center.

The fine arts media center was closed at the start of the year because the aide was removed. All materials in the media were moved to the lower media area.

The fine arts media had been used mainly for make up tests and individual student research in the areas of art, music, phy. ed., drivers' ed., and industrial arts.

The media center also suffered blows to the book and film budget with 35 per cent of the book budget and 62 per cent of the film budget being cut.

Closed media challenges I.A.

The industrial arts department faced great challenges when the fine arts media center was closed at the beginning of the school year.

The department received its first woodworking textbook ever and replaced the auto mechanics text.

Three home economics teachers, Mary Byrne, Claire Wick, and department head Dawn Johnson returned to the department after leaves of absence.

The department added a part-time teacher, Ellen Baynes, and updated the textbook in foods and nutrition class.

North obtains new computer; Track, courts completed

In the fall, North received a Dec-writer computer terminal to help students obtain information on careers, colleges, technical schools and job availability.

The terminal, located in the guidance area, is linked to the Wisconsin Career Information Center at UW-Oshkosh.

The music department made over $4,000 from their fall fruit sale. The choir department also received new risers.

North's new track and tennis courts were completed in the fall, and the North's girls' tennis team used the courts for their meets.

The nets, however, suffered from Homecoming vandalism as vandals cut the strings. Physical education classes resecured the nets for use.

Science budget hurts supplies

The lowered science budget and inflation made many items and teaching devices no longer replaceable. Many experiments were demonstrated by the teacher instead of being conducted by students in the laboratory.

Despite the budget cuts the department did receive a new Metrologic Laser.

Impaired hearing gains students

Due to the increase of hearing impaired students, the special education department was challenged by having the largest number of hearing impaired students ever at North.

Carol Fredrickson, David Schallhorn, and Joanne McAleer were added to the staff.

The hearing impaired department received a Zenith auditory training unit used for speech training. The unit amplifies sound more than a student's hearing aid.

Students in the art department suffered curriculum changes because of rising prices and reduced budgets.

"The students are not getting as much as they did when money went farther," said art teacher Tom Evans.

Foster joins administration

New in the administration this year was vice-principal John Foster. Foster replaced Don Dutton, who left to become principal of Merrill Middle School.

Foster was previously a principal at two Missouri high schools, and in the winter, received his PhD.

The administrative offices were shut off from the rest of the school when glass doors were installed in the fall.

North's attendance policy was changed in September. Calls were required on the day of the absence for the school to be excused. For late calls, the student had to obtain a note from a vice-principal excusing the absence.

Freshmen find North intimidating

Freshmen faced several challenges in the step from middle school, and many encountered embarrassing moments at the beginning of the year.

The most common embarrassing moment the freshmen listed on a fall Reflections survey was going to the wrong class.

According to the survey, the biggest changes from middle school to high school were the size of school, the increased freedom, and the increased amount of homework given.

The freshmen listed teachers, vandalism, and the upper classmen as the three major problems at North.

The hostage crisis in Iran, inflation, and nuclear war were considered to be the biggest challenges in the world during this election year.

Kline's was the most popular place to buy clothes, while the most popular clothing was jeans.

The two favorite eating places were McDonald's and Butch's Anchor Inn, while the favorite soda was Pepsi.

Dallas, on CBS, proved to be the favorite TV show of freshmen, as several ninth graders joined the 80 million Americans who found out who shot J.R. M*A*S*H and the Dukes of Hazzard came in second and third.

By a large margin, math was the favorite subject of the freshmen.

Grades, Iran sophs' big challenges

Grades were the biggest challenge for sophomores, while the Iran crisis was the biggest challenge facing the world, according to a fall survey. Sophomores also listed the possibility of war and the forthcoming Reagan presidency as the biggest challenges facing the U.S.

Sophomores listed Jane Fonda and Clint Eastwood as their favorite actress and actor, while Olivia Newton-John and Burt Reynolds were the second choices, and Sally Fields and Alan Alda came in third.

Queen's "The Game", along with "Van Halen I" and Supertramp's "Paris Live" were listed as the favorite albums, while "Another One Bites the Dust" and "All Out of Love" were the top two songs.

Queen topped the list of favorite musical groups, followed by Supertramp and AC/DC. Kenny Rogers was the most popular singer, with Slim Whitman, country western singer from England as the second choice and Barbra Streisand, third.

Petals on the Wind was voted best book, while Judy Blume was the favorite author and Seventeen was the number one magazine. *M*A*S*H won overwhelmingly for the top TV show and Caddy-Shack was named the best movie.

Juniors list grades as biggest challenge

Juniors felt that getting good grades was their biggest challenge in school, while the hostage crisis and inflation were chosen as the biggest problems facing the United States. Juniors listed their choices in a fall Reflections survey.

The most challenging classes named were English, chemistry and Math 3, while Homecoming was the favorite event and physical education and English the favorite subjects.

Juniors predicted that one positive contribution newly elected president Ronald Reagan would make was the lowering of inflation rates.

Most juniors were against reinstatement of the draft, but felt that women should also be drafted if a draft were to occur.

Hunting and skiing were listed as favorite hobbies, while the Corvette was the most popular car, with Trans Am and Porsche tied for second.

On the restaurant scene, McDonald's topped the list of favorite Oshkosh eating places, with Baxter's, Hardee's, and Shakey's following close behind.

Caddyshack, The Empire Strikes Back and Smokey and the Bandit were the movie favorites, while John Steinbeck was the favorite author.

Two students face parenting

In their junior year, Roxanne Holland and Ron Pistohl were forced to make a tough decision when Roxy became pregnant. They feel they made the right choice, though, when they decided to keep Thomas James, or T.J. as he is called.

When the two found out Roxy was pregnant, they said it was difficult to tell both sets of parents.

"It was hard to tell the parents whether we were going to keep it or not," said Ron. "We'd keep getting input from everyone, so we had to sit down and make a decision, but I knew it was the right thing to do."

Roxy said the way she spent her free time changed. "It would hurt when people would talk about what they were going to do this weekend, and I knew I couldn't."

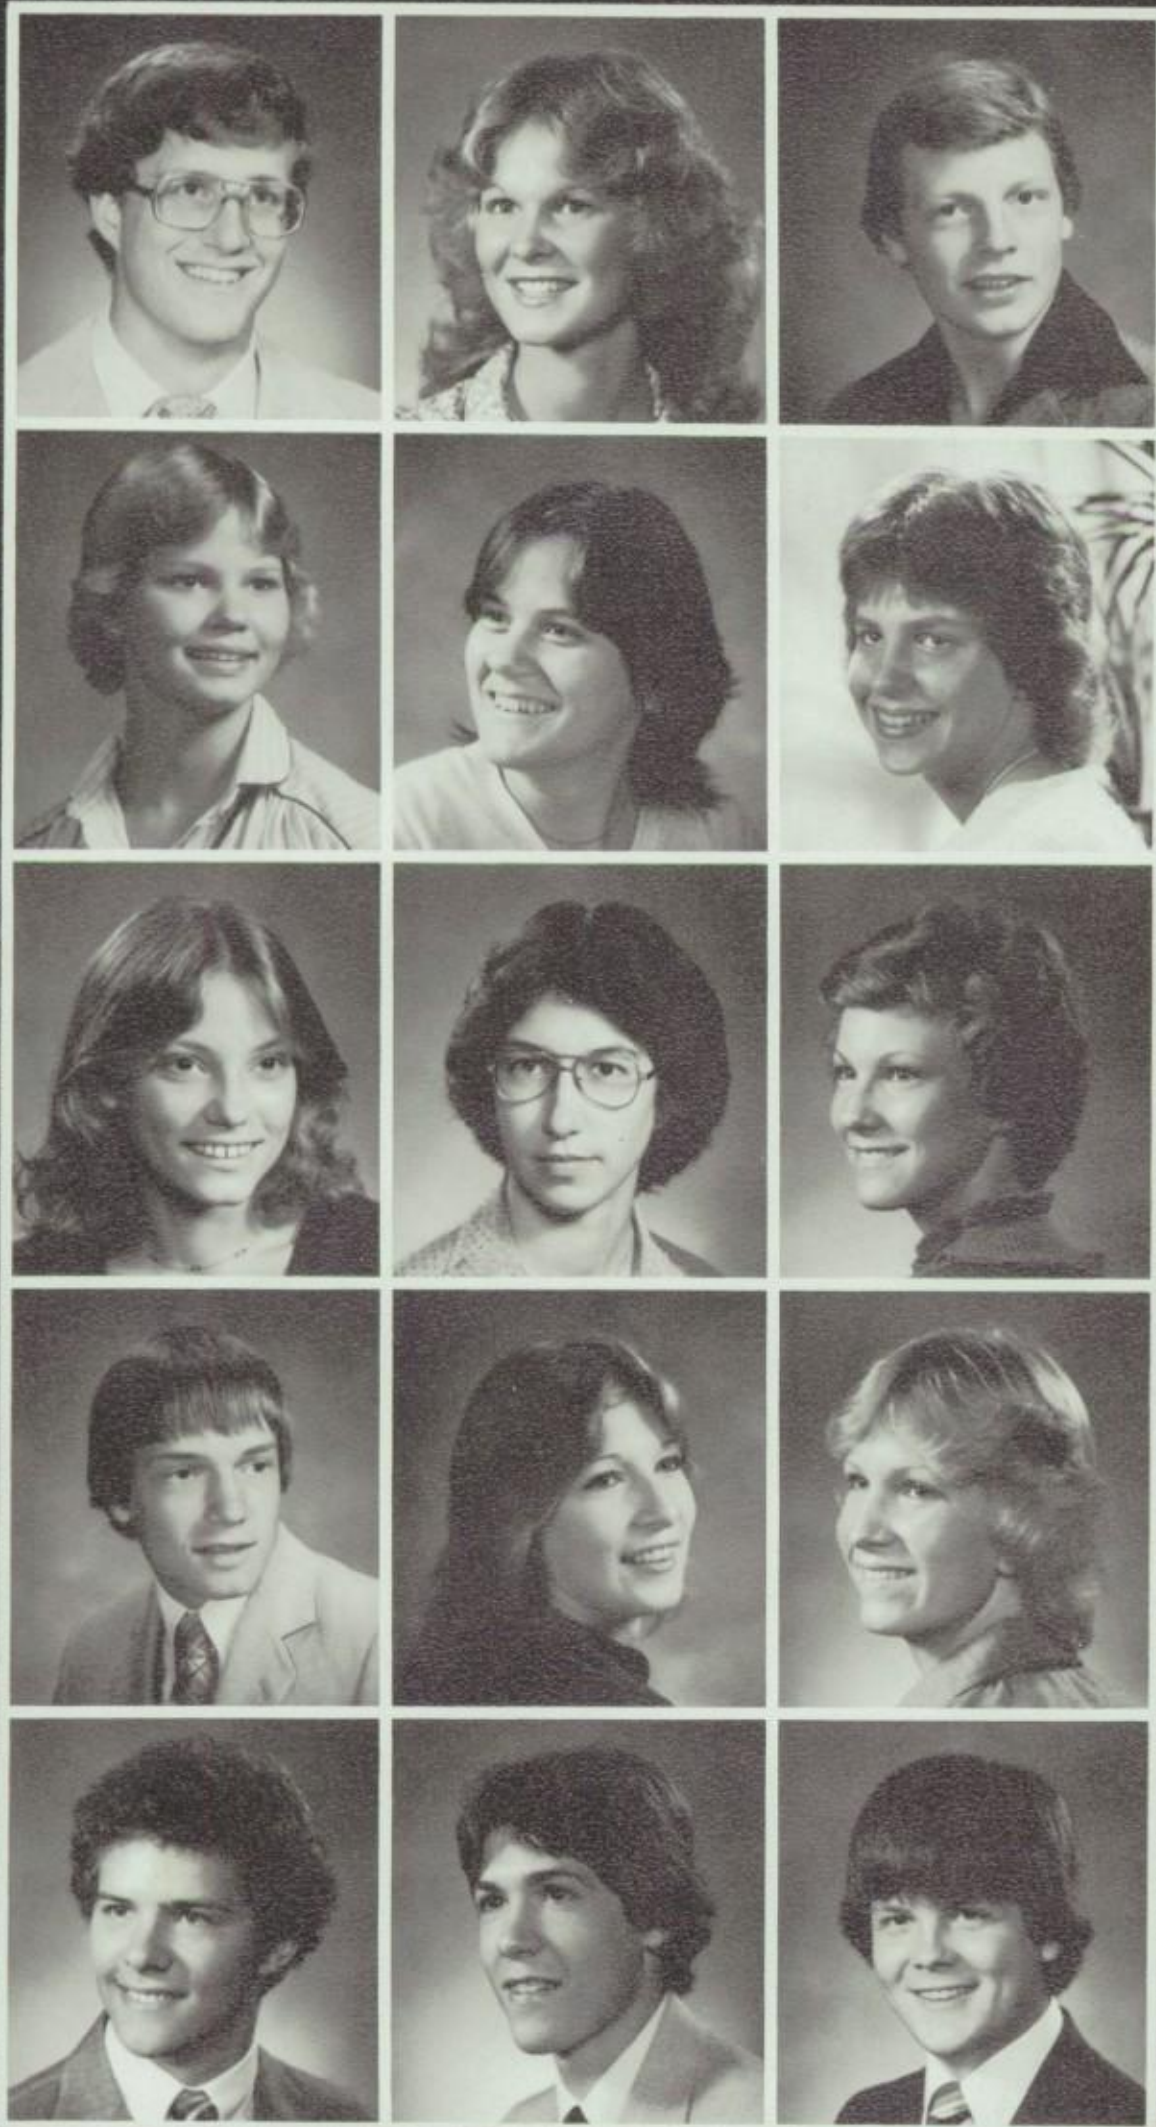

Both Roxanne and Ron found they've matured a great deal because they were forced to take decisive action, though they still lead double lives. Ron said of Roxanne, "She still has to do what her parents say, too. When we get of school we'll have to take more control of our lives."

Most people have accepted the fact that they have T.J. now. Ron said, "I've gotten a lot closer to my friends. When I show pictures, people are really interested." Roxanne, though, said she feels separated by being a mother. "When I'm at parties with seniors, I don't feel as though I fit in. I sometimes wish I could be goofy like my friends, but you grow out of it."

Ron said, "The hardest part was going through it in the beginning. It was the hardest thing I ever did in my life."

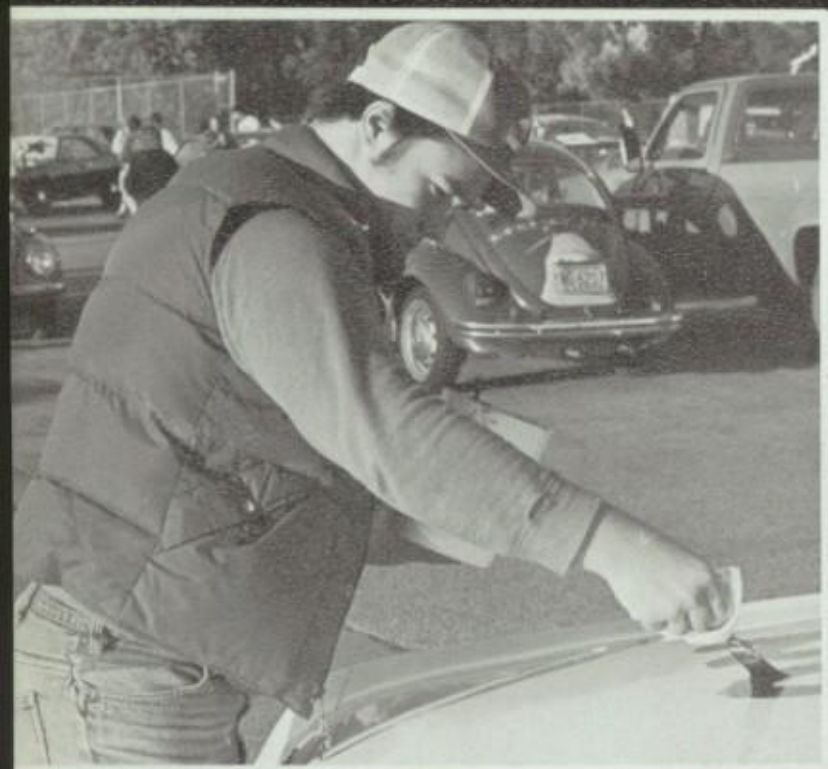

Ron Pistohl and Roxanne Holland hold their son T.J. outside the school.

Madson faces family challenge

Chris Madson has had to face two challenges in her life: first, the death of her father when she was seven; then the death of her stepfather in the spring of her junior year.

When she found out that her stepfather had died, she didn't want to believe it. "I just hoped that it wasn't true. It didn't really sink in at first. You don't really want to believe."

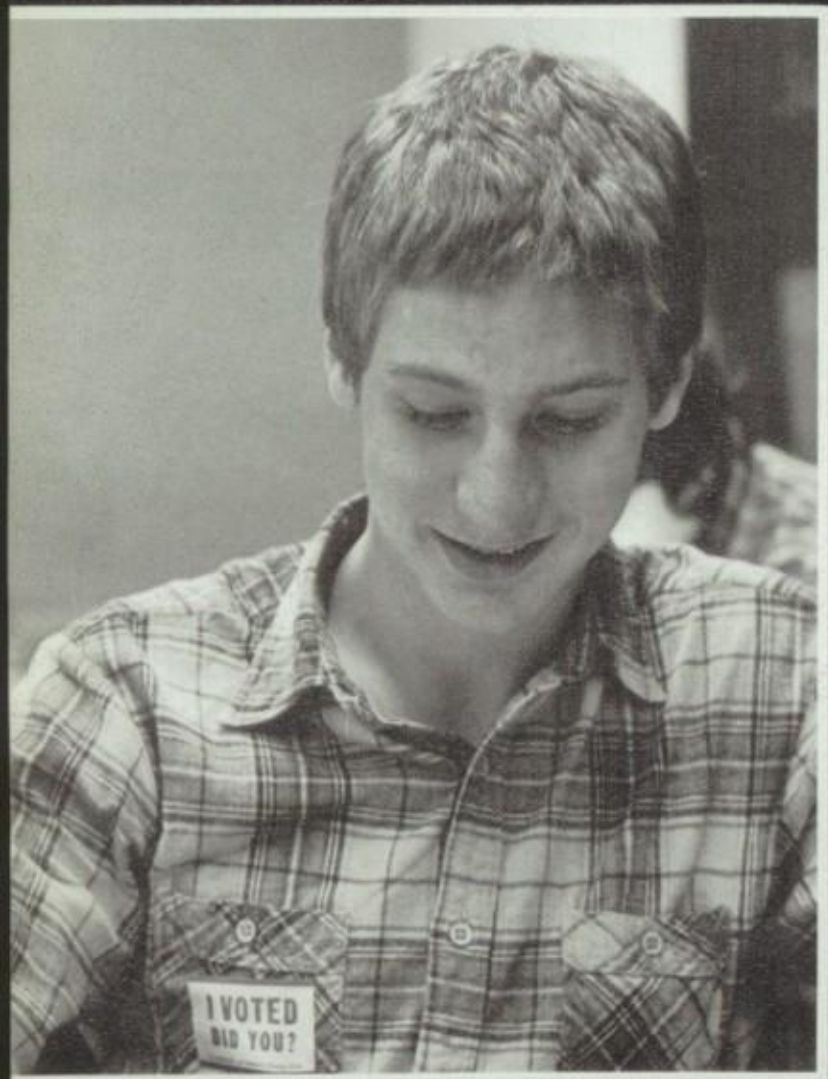

Chris said she doesn't really remember her real father. "He died when I was seven so I didn't feel I had one."

Although she came to think of her stepfather as a real father, the adjustment wasn't easy. "When they first got married I used to cry because I didn't want anybody to take away my mom. But it wasn't as hard as losing somebody," Chris said.

The death of her stepfather was one of the roughest things she had to face in her life. "It's still hard, but it gets less each day. You learn to work around it."

Flood learns value of health

In January of her sophomore year, Colleen Flood was faced with one of the biggest challenges of her life: she found out she had Hodgkins disease, a cancer of the lymph nodes and system.

Colleen said her family, parents, and friends helped her. "They called and sent goofy presents, letters, and cards, and they visited me a lot. It meant a lot to me finding out how much they cared." Other patients with cancer, her roommates and nurses also provided a great deal of support.

"Everybody I met was pretty sick. We acted like a big family and tried to help each other out and talk," said Colleen. "I feel I've grown up a lot and can handle hard situations and pain."

Colleen holds dear the value of health. She said she wants to "be healthy and go back to school and be part of the gang again." She advised, "Be thankful for your good health because when you don't have it anymore you realize how much you miss it and how great it is to be healthy."

Matschi enjoys Army experience

Ken Matschi signed the dotted line and officially joined the Army in November of his junior year. He joined under the split-option program, which offers on-the-job training and summer boot camp in exchange for six years of duty.

Ken was sent to Fort Jackson, South Carolina, to undergo the rigors of boot camp. "It was really fun and interesting; the learning, the friends; each person had a buddy. Mine was a black guy from Charleston. If it wasn't for him, I probably wouldn't have made it. I'm sure he'd say the same about me. Boot camp got me in shape and you learn to defend yourself in combat, and get from one point to another working with fake grenades."

At one point in his experience at boot camp, Matschi had to take the Advanced Individual Training Test designed to test the skills of troops.

"I was nervous when I had to do it. I didn't think I'd make it," said Matschi. "They really put you through, like war. You had to throw grenades and learn how to low crawl in the sand in the position of firing. You got to blow up the barracks, though. It was fun."

Diligently working on a vocabulary assignment, Tom Perzentka and Tara Husman study in an English IV class.

Kumbalek returns to finish school

Last year, Jeannie Kumbalek dropped out of school, but returned this year. Jeannie said her decision to come back was "an impulse."

"I really don't know why I decided to come back, but I'm aiming to graduate."

Jeannie said she found school much more challenging after missing a year. Her schedule included three phy. ed. classes.

"It's harder because I do the work now. I didn't used to do the work. This is the first year since I was in sixth grade that I've brought a book home."

"I'm really tempted to quit at times when things get really frustrating. I just get fed up and want to throw away the whole thing, but as long as I'm this far, I might as well go for it. I'll be glad when I get out, though."

Jeannie said returning to school didn't turn out to be embarrassing. "It's not necessarily embarrassing because I don't really care what they think. If they bother me, they're not my friends. At first, people hassled me, but they don't anymore. They know I don't care what they think. I came back because I wanted to."

'Reflections'* tops sales; SC gives $100

Reflections yearbook sold 1,240 books in the fall, an all-time record.

The yearbook also took first place in the large school yearbook division at NEWSA in April of 1979. Several members of the staff also attended the spring conference.

Senior Sharon Carstens served as editor of the book, the first student in North's history to serve as newspaper and yearbook editor.

Student Congress (SC) members worked to revise their constitution regarding absenteeism.

They also set up a $100 reward to give to people who reported incidents of vandalism at the school.

The group also put up a Christmas tree near the spiral staircase.

Polaris hosts dances; Drama mimes play

Polaris Honor Society sponsored a trip to Milwaukee's Repertory Theater's Julius Caesar for sophomore honors English classes in February.

Polaris also hosted a Valentine's Day Dance in February and the annual Prom in May.

A chili supper was held by society members on Open House Night of Media Expo, and the group sponsored a one-day class trip and the senior luncheon.

New members were inducted in the spring at the awards and recognition banquet.

Drama Club members mimed the play "The Me Nobody Knows" at the end of December.

For the winter Jolly Jester productions, senior Kevin Polster starred as the wizard in "The Wizard of Oz." Others with leading roles were senior Robin Voils as the Wicked Witch of the West and junior Judy Zalas as Glinda.

AFS raises funds; D & D draws members

AFS sponsored Icelandic Kalla Karlsdottir, raised funds for the Special Olympics, traveled to Great America in the summer of 1980, went to the Milwaukee Folk Fair, and held a Christmas party at sophomore Jenny Thorfinnson's house.

Juniors Perry Tellock and Jill Bollom served as president and secretary-treasurer, respectively.

Dungeons and Dragons drew members from students interested in fiction and fantasy war games. Senior Kevin Polster organized the club with adviser LeRoy Wolter.

'North Star' covers issues; Math has meets

With co-editors senior Rose Liddell and junior Kevin Isaacson, North Star covered national, state, and local elections, the nuclear unpreparedness of Winnebago County and the Homecoming food fight.

Junior Jill Bollom was assistant editor, junior Stue Miller served as ad manager, and junior Pete Faust was sports editor.

Mu Sigma Chi, the Math Science Club, participated in five Fox Valley Math League meets during the year. The meets involved a series of six problem sets which were received through the mail by the schools.

FBLA Grows; S & M sells sweatshirts

Several members of the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) competed in Reedsville in February in various skills competition. Members also attended a state convention in Madison in May.

Membership in the club grew from 16 in 1979-80 to 44 in 1980-81. The membership increase made the club eligible for an award for most improved membership.

Hooded sweatshirts and jerseys were sold by the Sales and Marketing Club in the school store along with regularly stocked merchandise.

Students took turns operating the school store before and after school hours.

In May, members held their annual vocational co-op banquet at the Pioneer Inn. Students invited their employers as guests, and approximately 300-400 employers and students attended from North and West high schools.

FFA plants trees; HERO holds demos

FHA-HERO held luncheons, buffets, receptions, breakfasts, and bake sales throughout the year. Members also gave food demonstrations at other schools and held public relations activities for the food service program.

Senior Amy Neyhard was the student representative, and home economics teacher Roger Schimdeke was the adviser.

Future Farmers of America (FFA) started a nursery with 400 trees and shrubs near the greenhouse behind school.

At the end of October, members participated in a Skate-A-Thon and in the spring a Walk-A-Thon for the March of Dimes.

Seniors Kim Y. Johnson, Sue Babbitz, Lisa Gibson, and sophomore Jeff Lemiesz attended the national convention in Kansas City, MO, during the middle of November.

Key serves community; Pep adds life

Pep Club proved active as they performed "Bridget the Midget" at pep rallies and games, sold refreshments at basketball games, made signs for athletic events, helped the Booster Club raise money, and held several bake and doughnut sales.

A big money-maker for the club was the sale of football jerseys which had the Spartan emblem on the front and the student's name and class number on the back.

Key Club was involved in many joint community projects with the Noon Kiwanis Club. Some of the activities included a zoo project, Salvation Army bell ringing, and guiding for travelogues held at North. The Club also helped with the Special Olympics and distributed food baskets to the needy.

Art joins North clubs; Ski travels

New among organizations this year was Art Club. Approximately 45 students met once a month for various programs.

In October, the club saw the film You Can't Take It With You, and in November, the group visited the art studio of Frank Girrard.

After holding a Christmas dinner in December, the group took field trips, sponsored speakers, and held an awards night. The club had no officers for the first year.

Ski Club, advised by psychology teacher Jim Buehner, took ski trips to several area hills, including Nordic and Powderhorn.

Senior Mike McKibben was president and senior Ann Muza was secretary.

Most trips were taken in conjunction with Mountain Bay.

Pom Pon squad purchases new yellow sweaters

Pom pon members held three car washes during the summer to pay for their new sweaters and letters. The sweaters featured a yellow color rather than the green hue from past years.

Members placed fourth in the large school division of competition at a clinic in Eau Claire in November.

The group was fifth overall in the same clinic.

At the Kaukauna basketball game in December, the group performed a routine in conjunction with the North jazz band.

Throughout the football and basketball seasons, the girls performed routines at halftime choreographed by various members of the squad.

Students, staff meet challenge of blackout

No greater challenge presented itself to North in the winter of 1981 than the day a transformer overheated, knocking out the power to several areas for over four days.

In a substation near the elevator Friday, Feb. 6, a transformer overheated, causing extensive smoke and fumes.

Power was lost on the second floor and in the carpeted area downstairs until Feb. 9 at 6 p.m. when Public Service installed a temporary transformer set-up.

The transformer was sent to Milwaukee for repairs, and the total bill for the transformer and alternate power was estimated at $18,000.

Classes were shortened Feb. 6 and sent early to a pep rally held prior to the Neenah basketball game. Buses then arrived early and took students home.

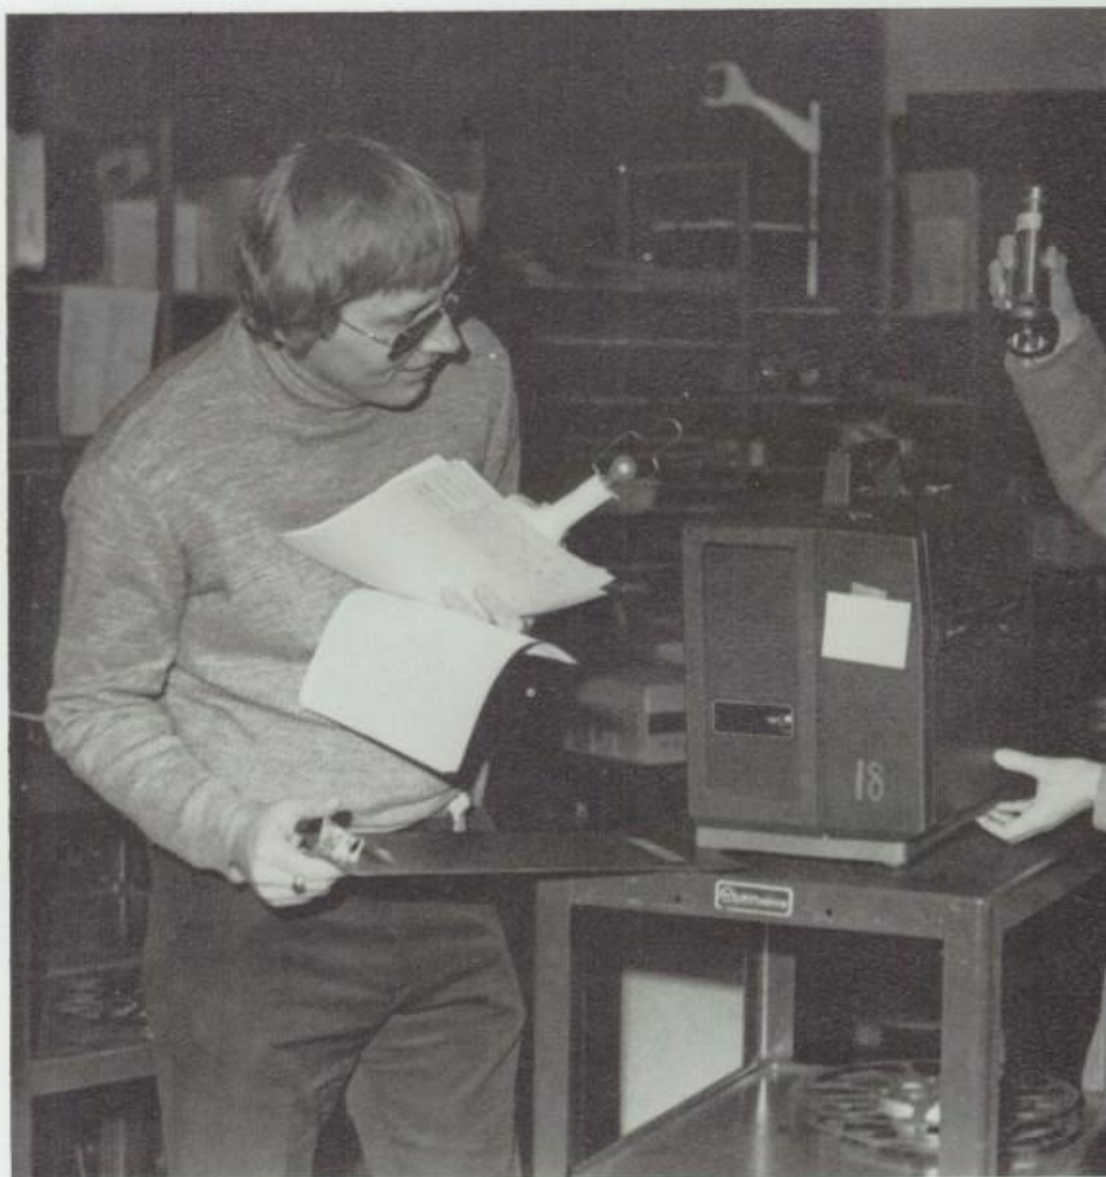

When staff and students arrived Monday morning, the power was still off, as was the heat to the outer rooms. Science teacher Russ Rutz said, "We just sat and froze in every classroom." The temperatures dipped below 40 degrees in some classrooms, so students and teachers wore gloves and coats to class.

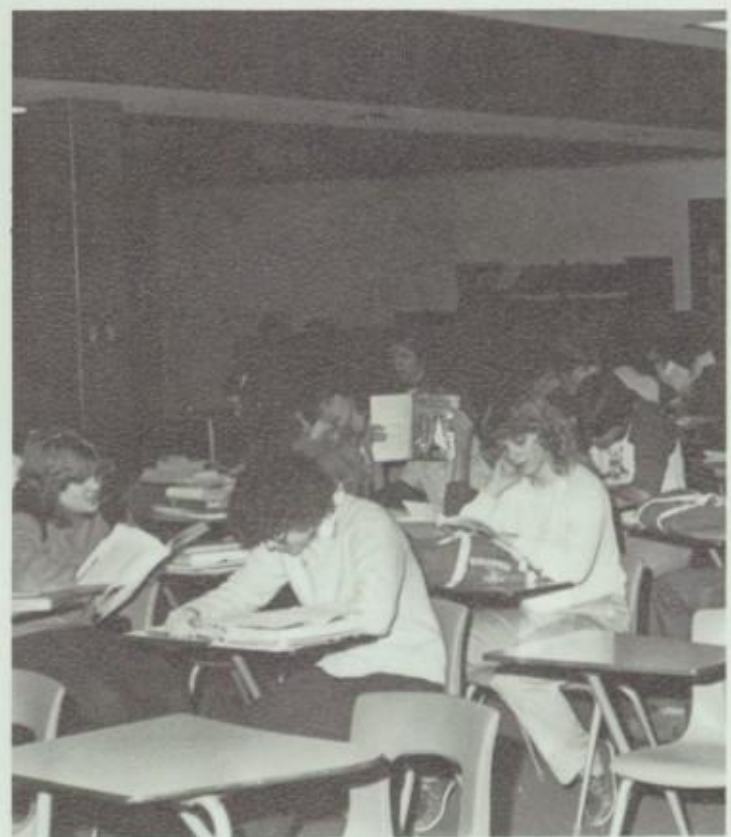

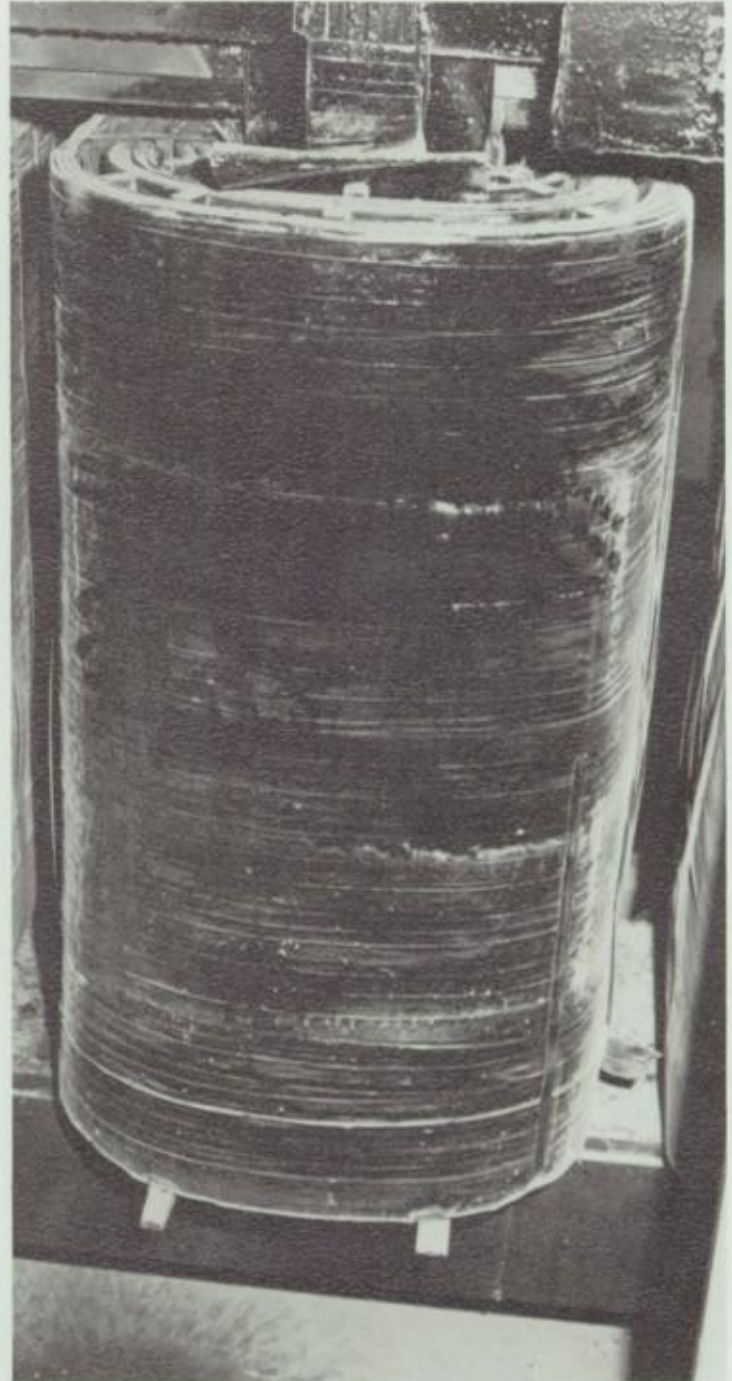

Custodians, upon orders from the administration, rearranged furniture and equipment to cope with the unusual circumstances. The gymnasium, cafeteria, upper media, and lecture rooms were used for classes that were forced to relocate.

Vice-principal John Foster issued the following directions to teachers prior to Monday's classes: "Teachers supervising the carpeted hallways should check the interior classrooms. The classrooms will be dark and will be potential for problems to occur. Do not allow students into the dark classrooms."

Problems did not occur, and the day progressed without incident.

Spartan IX proves fun; Operetta features youth

The sounds of boots and spurs clicking down North's halls marked the opening of Spartan IX, Oct. 6-10. Students came to school dressed as cowboys, Indians, and show girls for Western Day.

Seniors Tom Schuessler and Sally LaPoint were crowned King and Queen during Friday's coronation ceremony, while juniors Kent Schuhart and Wendy Lloyd, sophomores Charlie Fawley and Terri Pung, and freshmen Scott Davis and Becky Albright served as class representatives.

Juniors took first place in both hall painting and float building. Sophomore Mike Matschi and freshman Sharon Schneider won the hushbutton competitions.

Senior Christy Roberts won the Western Day costume contest, and juniors Julia Raab and Jill Bollom won Grub/Clash Day honors. The Green and Gold Day costume winner was junior Joe Lewis, and the Powder Puff football game was won by the junior-seniors girls, 23-18.

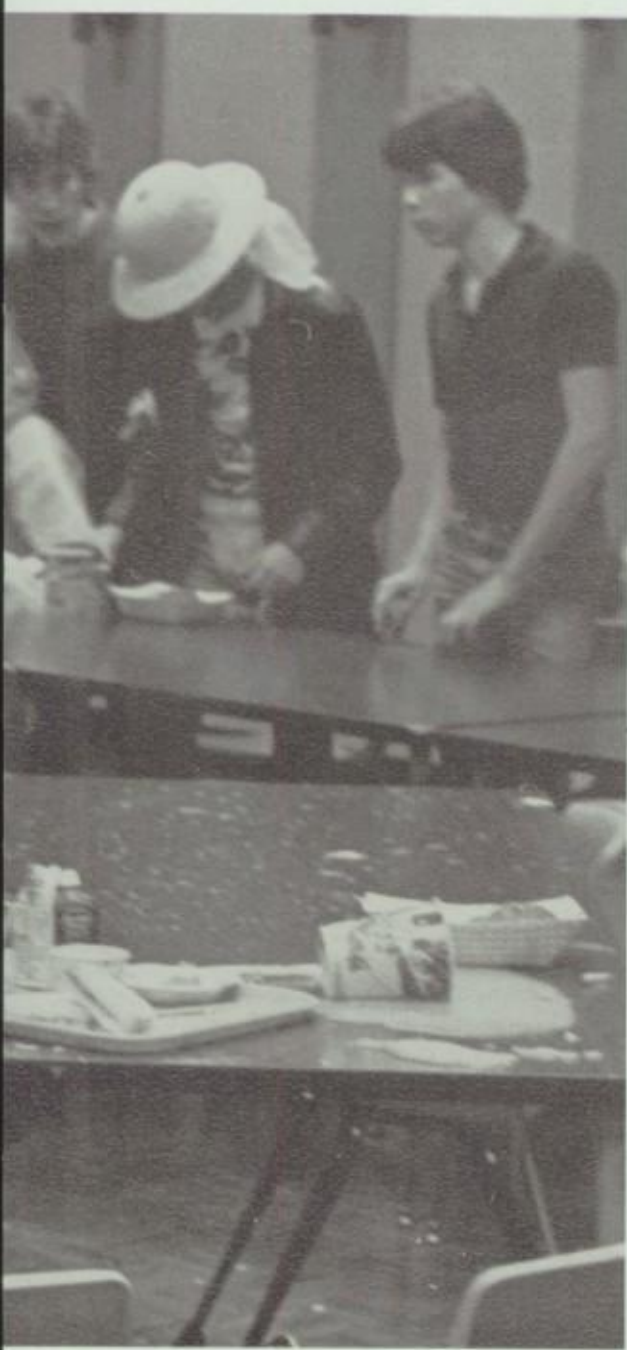

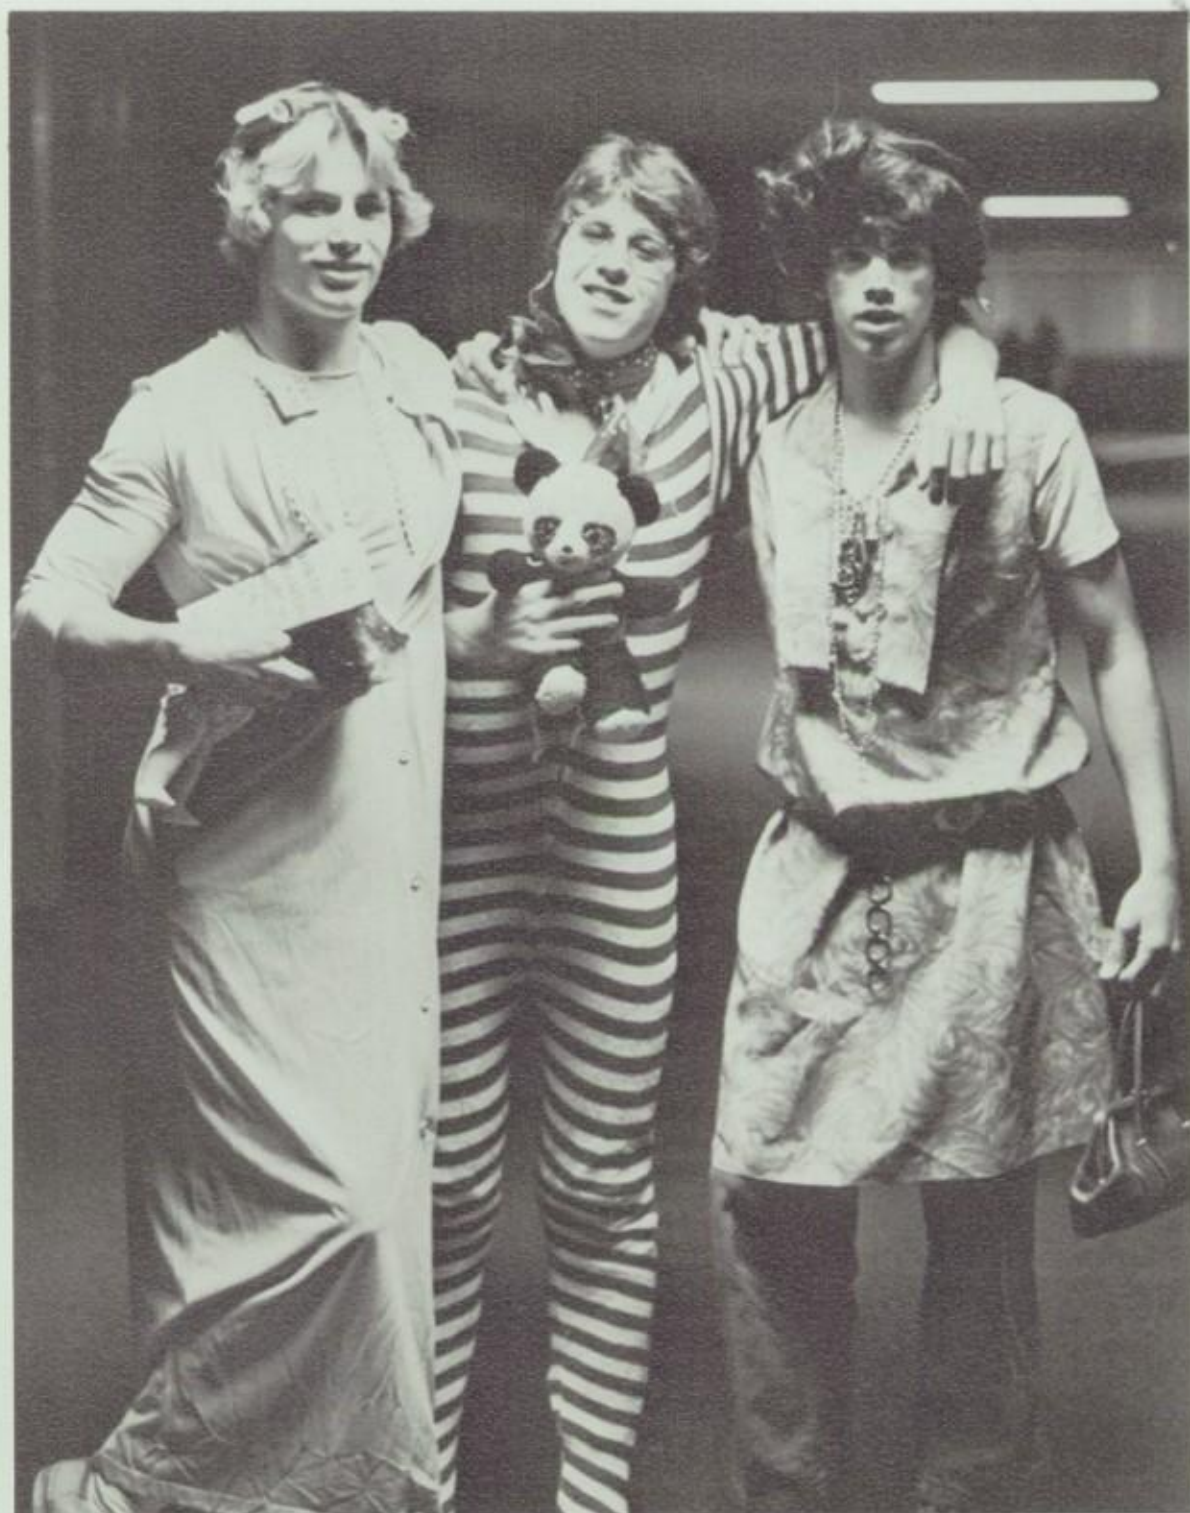

With sixth grader Kurt Bowen and seventh grader Tom Branigan featured in the title role, the North A Capella and Chorale choirs presented Oliver Oct. 30, 31, and Nov. 1.

Seniors Paul Bruce and Randy Kronberg played Fagin, while seniors Jim Hart and Slate Fuller played Bill Sykes. The Artful Dodger role went to eighth graders Randy Pagel and Bill Weber, while seniors Tracy Sonnleitner, Patty Laine, and Debbie Farrell played Nancy.

Other major roles went to Laura Resheske, Paula Rolfes, and Paul Footit, and sophomore Jeff Lemiesz.

Jimmy Carter

John Anderson

Reagan, Bush lead Republicans

In what was supposed to be a close contest for president, the 1980 election turned into a landslide electoral victory for Republican Ronald Reagan.

Reagan, boosted by a last-minute switch in public opinion following a long-awaited debate with incumbent president Jimmy Carter, recorded 489 electoral votes to Carter's 49 for the largest margin since Richard Nixon destroyed George McGovern in 1972.

Carter's votes came from Maryland, Georgia, West Virginia, Hawaii, Rhode Island and Minnesota. He also won the District of Columbia.

In a mock election at North, Regan easily defeated Carter, 268-156, while Independent John Anderson got 105.

Reagan captured over 51 per cent of the popular vote in the national election, while Carter won 41 per cent and Anderson seven.

Wisconsin gave 1,089,750 votes to Reagan, 988,255 to Carter, and 159,793 to Anderson.

Reagan, who turned 70 Feb. 6, took office as the oldest man ever to assume the presidency. His running mate, George Bush, 56, was described by Reagan as "a very valuable asset."

Carter was not the only Democratic loser on the various ballots as several noted liberal senators felt the sting of defeat. Indiana's Birch Bayh, Idaho's Frank Church, South Dakota's McGovern, Iowa's John Culver, and Wisconsin's own Gaylord Nelson lost.

After the election, Republicans emerged in control of the Senate, gaining 12 seats and running the total to 53, compared to the Democrat's 46.

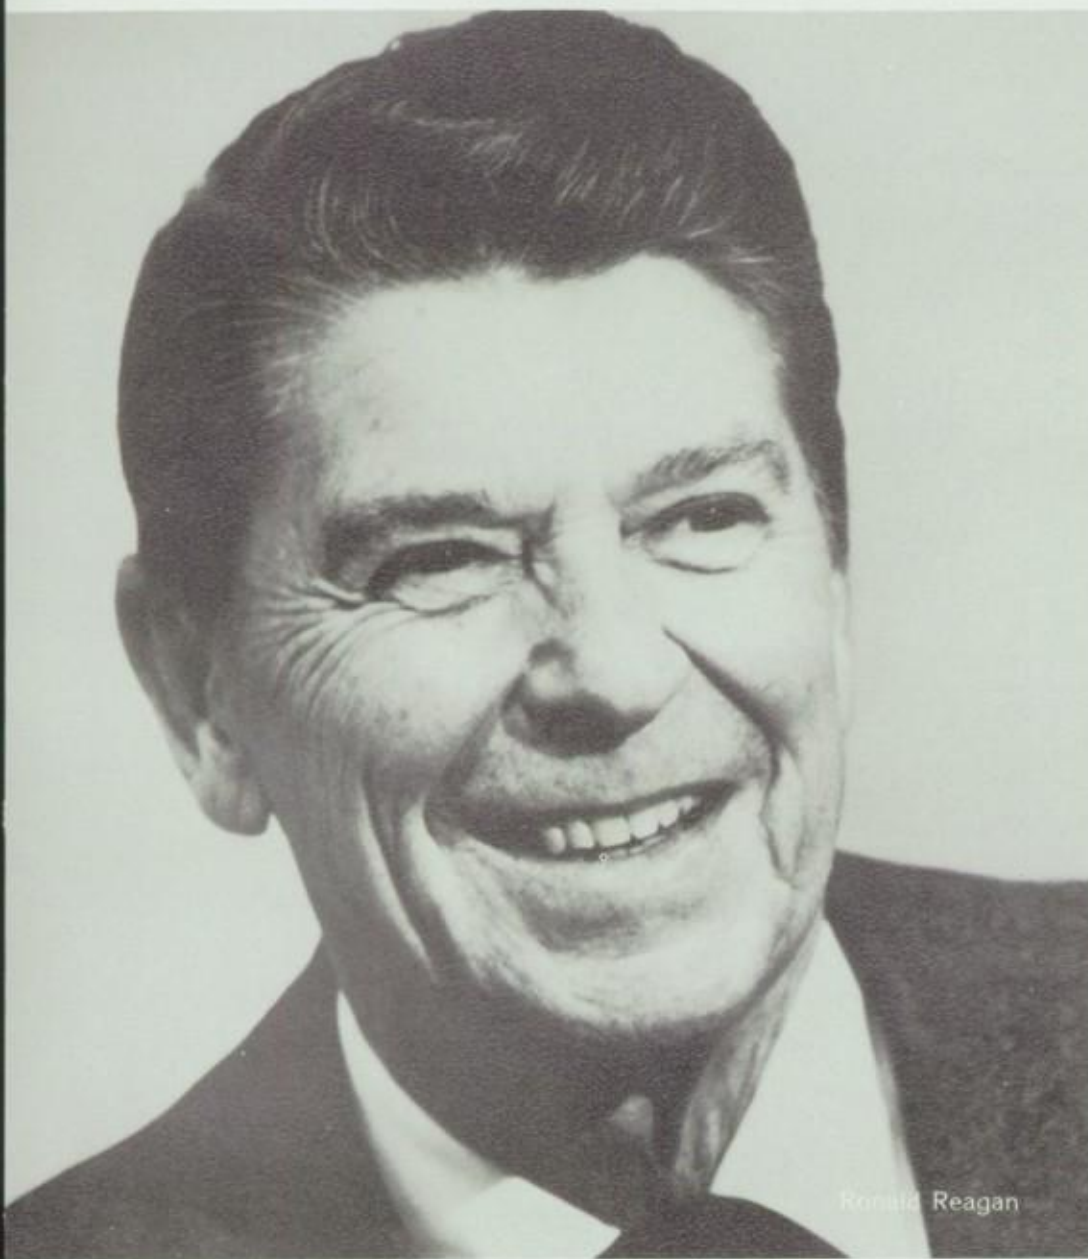

In the House, the Democrats held on, despite a net gain of 33 seats by the Republicans. After the election, the Democrats had a 243 to 192 margin.

Winnebago County and Oshkosh returns surprised political pundits in the area, especially in the sheriff's race, where Democrat Ron Rasmussen edged Terry Footit by six votes for a recount, however, officials discovered several errors, and Footit was declared the winner by over 237 votes.

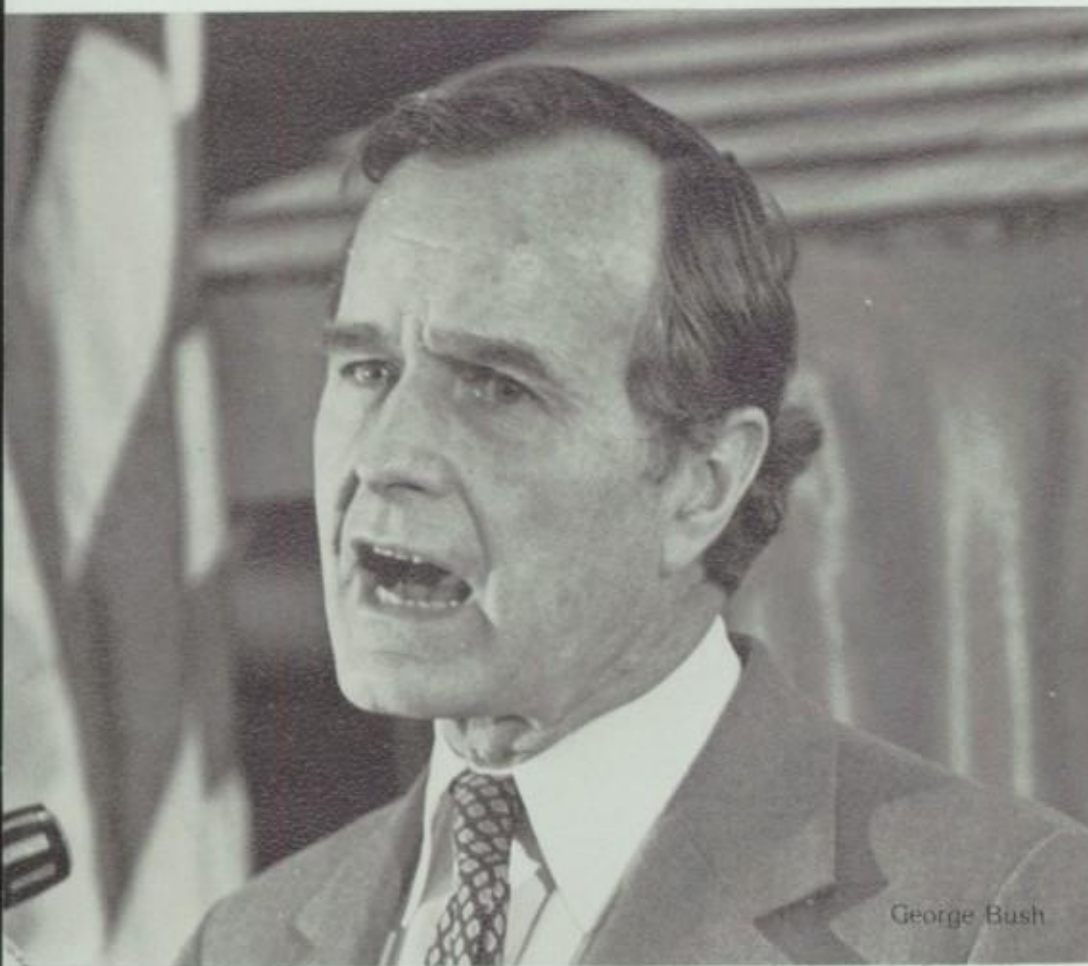

In other area selections, 56th District Assemblyman Richard Flintrop defeated Republican challenger Ken Schiefelbein, 9,783 to 9,452, while Republican 6th District Congressman Tom Petri trimmed Democratic challenger Gary Goyke, 143,992 to 98,716.

The Grand Theater referendum: "Shall the City of Oshkosh acquire, restore, and engage in the operation of the Grand Opera House, located at the corner of High Avenue and Market Street?" passed 13,200 to 6,569.

Other winners included Republican 57th District Assemblyman Bud Bradley, 55th Assembly Republican Mike Ellis, County Coroner Mike Stelter, District Attorney Robert Hawley, Register of Deeds Marge Dahms, County Clerk Dorothy Propp, County Treasurer Ruth Bradley, and Clerk of Courts Catherine Stadtmueller.

'Dallas' tops charts; TV undergoes change

After eight months of anticipation, Dallas viewers finally found out who shot the reprehensible J.R. Ewing — his sister-in-law and former mistress, Kristin Shepard. The revelation in a November episode drew the largest audience in the history of series television, as 70 million viewers in the U.S. tuned in for the discovery. CBS sold a commercial minute on the episode for $500,000.

Television played an important role in the 1980 election. The big three networks created an uproar by broadcasting a landslide victory for Ronald Reagan before all voters had reached the polls. Jimmy Carter publicly conceded defeat before the West Coast polls closed.

The dean of news anchormen, Walter Cronkite, retired from the CBS Evening News after 18 years and was succeeded by Dan Rather of 60 Minutes fame, beginning in March.

Public television faced a crisis in 1980 — the public broadcasting income failed to keep up with inflation. Competition from cable TV, video recorders and other alternatives to the big three networks also cut into the PBS viewer audience.

A December pro football game between the Jets and Dolphins offered viewers relief from the announcers' usual commentary. NBC broadcast the game with no play-by-play announcer or colorman.

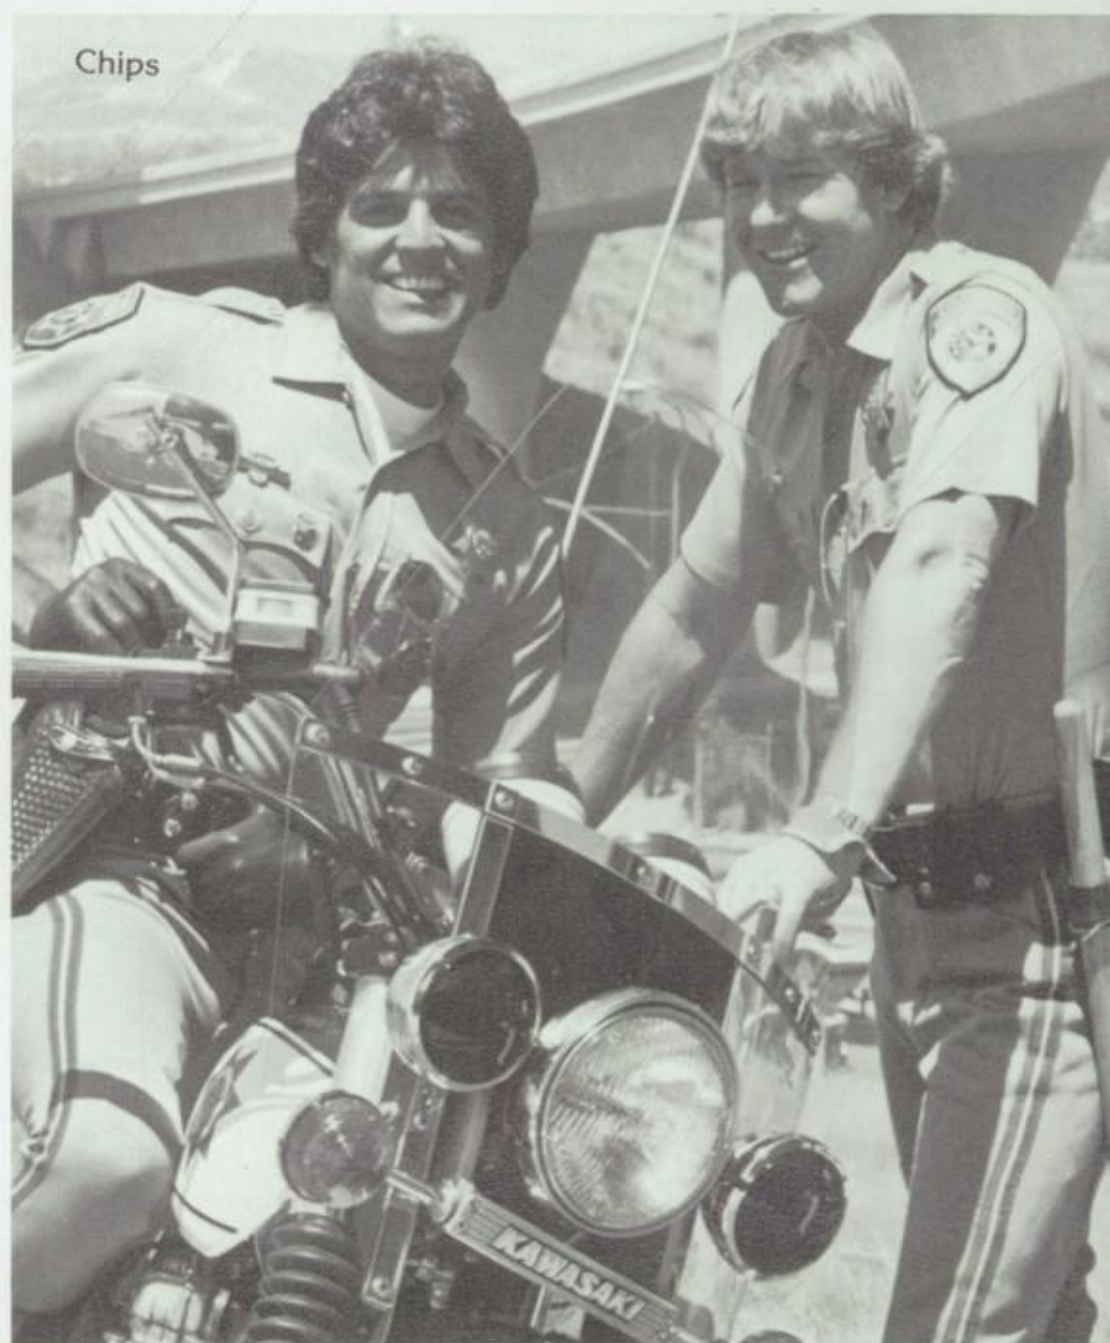

M*A*S*H was the top-ranked show among North students, followed by Dallas while Soap and The Dukes of Hazard tied for third.

Despite the fact that the actors went on strike in the summer and fall of 1980, several made-for-TV movies hit the tube, much to the delight of viewers.

Playing for Time, the story of a survivor of Auschwitz concentration camp drew raves, despite the fact that anti-Zionist Vanessa Redgrave played the heroine.

Dickens' A Tale of Two Cities was watched by several North students in the fall, as was A Rumour of War, an autobiographical account of Philip Caputo's experiences in Viet Nam.

NBC spent over $25 million to produce Shogun, which shot the network into the lead in the Nielsen ratings in the fall.

Hostage return unites country, pleases Carter

Excitement over the Jan. 20 inauguration of President Ronald Reagan was somewhat lessened as hopes rose in expectation of the imminent return of the 52 hostages from being held in Iran. Three minutes after Reagan was sworn in as the 40th president of the U.S., the hostages boarded a plane for Algeria.

The hostages received a warm welcome in Washington before returning to their respective homes for other homecoming celebrations.

With the new administration came a series of budget cuts, with a proposed $41.4 billion of federal spending being cut to balance the U.S. economy by 1984. Reagan ordered a 15-per cent cut in the travel budget for federal employees and a 10-per cent cut in every state's budget. Other programs suffering under Reagan's New Deal were food stamps, Medicaid, federal highway construction and dairy price supports.

Terror reigned in Atlanta, Georgia, as several black children were abducted and murdered. Over 20 black youths were missing since July 1979. The killer's random murders puzzled police and detectives in much the same way Son of Sam had stumped New York detectives.

Separate fires in two Las Vegas hotels took their toll on human lives; one in November and the other in February. Arson was suspected in both cases.

The XXII Summer Olympics in Moscow went on despite the boycott; 81 countries went, while more than 60 joined the U.S. in the boycott.

The Philadelphia Phillies beat the Kansas City Royals in the World Series, 4-2, as Mike Schmidt was named MVP. George Brett, who had hovered near the .400 mark for the year, drew most of the publicity in the series with a hemorrhoid problem.

Locally, the biggest news story was the uncovering of Raymond Matzker, posing as William T. Boerum, director of Winnebago Mental Health Institute. Matzker was arrested initially for sexually molesting an 11-year old boy.

WMHI was also in the news as the state tried to convert it into a medium security prison.

In pro football, the Oakland Raiders defeated the Philadelphia Eagles 27-10 in the 1981 Super Bowl.

Michigan defeated Washington in the Rose Bowl.

CLOCKWISE FROM UPPER LEFT: Fond du Lac citizens welcome home former hostage Thomas Ahern. THE HOSTAGE CRISIS brought about a revitalization of patriotism among Americans. IN NOVEMBER 1980, the unmanned spacecraft Voyager I took pictures of Saturn from the closest point of view ever obtained. THE ORBITER SPACECRAFT was the forerunner to the Columbia, the space shuttle scheduled to launch in April, 1981. FORMER BEATLE JOHN Lennon was fatally shot in New York City in December.

"Upstream"
The easy roads are crowded and
The level roads are jammed.
The pleasant little rivers
With the drifting folks are crammed.
But off yonder where it's rocky,
Where you get the better view,
You will find the ranks are thinning,
And travelers are few.
Where the going's smooth and pleasant
You will always find a throng,
For the many-more's the pity-
Seem to like to drift along.
But the steps that call for courage
And the task that's hard to do
In the end results in glory
For the never wavering few!

(ABOVE) Senior Rich Stille faced the biggest challenge of his life when he fought back from a near drowning in the North pool, Feb. 24. Senior Dan Dumke(left) pulled Stille from the pool.

Waldo,

I'm glad your on our team for softball team. You stabilize our outfield. If you hit every one on the ground I'm sure you could beat it out with your amazing speed. It should be fun this summer.

Pete Faust

Winner,
It's too bad you couldn't stay out for track this year, we could really have used you.
Have a great summer
and I'll see you next year

Eric Lewis

Myra,

You better come out for football. Because you're animal and the team needs you.
Hope you get a good breeding season this summer.
And stay out of trouble.

Love
Chuck
